

WALL STREET STOCKS MOVE UPWARD WITH WHEAT PRICE

Long List of Net Gains of 1 to 6 Points in Popular Industrials, Rails and Utilities—Few 7 to 25.

CALL MONEY RATE UP TO 7 PER CENT

New York Stock Exchange Member Loans Decreased $109,792,470 in May to $6,665,137,925.

NEW YORK, June 3.—Stocks staged a vigorous recovery today and held most of their gains. A rise in the call money rate from 6 to 7 per cent. Final quotations disclosed a long list of net gains reaching from 1 to 6 points in the popular industrials, rails and public utilities, and from 1 to nearly 25 points in a few high priced specialties. Trading was only moderate in volume, however, total sales barely crossing $100,000,000 shares.

The New York Stock Exchange member loans decreased $109,792,470 in May to $6,665,137,925. It was announced after the close of the market. The stock exchange was expected in one quarter to show a drop of somewhere around $250,000,000 reported for April. A sharp rebound of 5 to 6 cents in wheat prices was the principal bullish development of the day. This brought fresh buying into the mail order and farm implement stocks, and stimulated trading in some older issues which had been sold following the recent decline in grain prices.

Rise in Call Rate.
The rise in call money was the net official change in about 10 a.m. and probably resulted from the return of the June 1 dividend interest checks to the banks for payment, and revival of business activity and the semi-weekly payment of federal reserve advances. Time money rates showed a further relaxation for the longer maturities.

Commonwealth Power, which had as low as 10 1/2 this year, advanced 14 points to a new high of 129. Frank C. Shattuck ran up nearly 8 points to a high of 159 1/2. Bendix Aviation jumped 6 1/2 points to a new high of 90 and retained all but a fraction of its gain. Case Threshing Machine scored an advance of 23 points. Allied Chemical, General Electric, Auburn Auto, and International Business Machines, Hayes Body and Stromberg-Carlson sold 6 to 9 points. Last week's final quotations of the district of Columbia sustaining covenants in deeds to property prohibiting its sale to Negroes. Edward G. and Susie B. Russell, owners of property, conveyed property to Edgar T. Russell and other Negroes. White owners of nearby property contended the deed by which the Russells obtained the property contained a covenant prohibiting its sale to Negroes, and the courts of the district held the covenant valid.

Jackie Coogan Operated On Condition of 12-Year-Old Movie Performer Reported Excellent.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 3.—Jackie Coogan, movie and vaudeville performer, underwent an operation for acute appendicitis early today at a Glendale (Cal.) hospital. His condition was reported excellent, by attending surgeons 12 hours later. The boy, who is 12 years old, was taken ill suddenly Saturday night.

Mail Order Stocks Up.
The rebound in wheat might have been explained perhaps most easily as reflecting a normally early recovery from a heavily seasonal condition. Most observers are satisfied that the selling which forced that grain back was warranted beyond reasonable bounds. It is a matter of fact that in some parts of the street it was looked upon as reflecting an organized effort to support the grain and to keep it from falling further. In some cases it was a matter of fact that the influence of the reparations settlement and the record in loans reported last week.

PROVISO IN DEED FORBIDDING SALE TO NEGROES HELD VALID

U. S. Supreme Court Refuses to Review Action of Lower Body on Property in Washington.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—The Supreme Court today refused to review the action of the lower courts in the case of the district of Columbia sustaining covenants in deeds to property prohibiting its sale to Negroes. Edward G. and Susie B. Russell, owners of property, conveyed property to Edgar T. Russell and other Negroes. White owners of nearby property contended the deed by which the Russells obtained the property contained a covenant prohibiting its sale to Negroes, and the courts of the district held the covenant valid.

BALDWIN TO HAND RESIGNATION TO KING TOMORROW

Premier's Decision Makes Selection of J. Ramsay MacDonald as Successor Certain.

LABOR STRONGER THAN 5 YEARS AGO

Liberals Are Unknown Quantity—Chamberlain Not to Go to League Conference in Madrid.

LONDON, June 3.—Premier Baldwin, who has governed England since October, 1924, at the head of a Conservative Cabinet, will place the resignation of King George tomorrow at Windsor Castle.

J. Ramsay MacDonald, Premier of the first Labour Government in the history of England, is now considered certain to assume control of his majesty's Government.

Baldwin's action, caused by the defeat of the Conservative party in the general election Thursday, is in agreement with constitutional usage and with the advice of powerful Conservative leaders and most of the Conservative press.

Second Time in Five Years.
Thus, for the second time within five years, the Labour party, which 30 years ago held not a single seat in the House of Commons, will come into power. It will rule as the strongest party in the House, and not as a stable majority Government. Labour has only 237 seats of the 508 necessary for a majority.

MacDonald is for the second time confronted with the problems of a minority Government. The Liberals, under the leadership of David Lloyd George, hold the balance of power with 57 seats, the Conservatives being reduced to 253 from the 413 with which Baldwin faced Parliament after the last general election.

Liberals Unknown Quantity.
Action of the Liberals is the unknown quantity in parliamentary affairs today. In 1923 they supported the Labour Government on the floor of the House of Commons, without accepting representation in the Cabinet or responsibility for all of Labour's principles. The question of the hour for MacDonald is for Lloyd George to decide whether such a tacit coalition can again be imposed upon their followers, and whether they themselves consider it advisable.

Labour is now considered relatively much stronger than when it first took control of the Government. The Labour leaders have had their baptism of fire. They are now experienced in the actual conduct of government and are familiar with the routine of the office which offered so many problems merely by their unfamiliarity in 1923.

MacDonald has declared that he will strive to prevent a general election "for the next two years." He has observers agree, a much better chance of keeping his promise than his party formerly afforded him. The first Labour Government lasted only nine months and was brought down when the Liberals withdrew their support on publication of the celebration Zinoviev letter. The Labourites have always maintained that the Zinoviev letter was a forgery.

At the same time official quarters announced the resignation of the Baldwin Cabinet, it was learned that Sir Austen Chamberlain, Foreign Secretary, would not go to the sessions at Madrid June 10 of the League of Nations Council. Sir Austen had expected to leave London for Madrid tomorrow morning. It is not known who will replace him.

TO DRILL FOR OIL IN OLD CATHEDRAL IN MEXICO CITY

Government Thinks Aztecs Had Well Near One of Oldest Shrines in America.

MEXICO CITY, June 3.—An announcement that drilling for oil within the National Cathedral, one of the oldest shrines in America, will start soon has been made by the section of Explorations and Geological Studies of the Department of Industry, Commerce and Labor. The drilling also will determine how firm a foundation the cathedral rests on.

The cathedral probably is the largest church in the country and forms one side of the Zocalo or central square of the city, the national palaces occupying another side. The square has not only been the seat of government and religious center since the Spanish conquest but had a similar place in Aztec life from the twelfth century and from prehistoric times so served the Toltec civilization.

KING GEORGE, 64, CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY, PROPPED UP IN BED

WINDSOR, Eng., June 3.—King George celebrated his sixty-fourth birthday today, propped up in bed in the Victoria tower of Windsor Castle.

The abcess at the old lung incision was not serious, his doctors said, and was taking a normal course. Little change was made in plans for the formal celebrations in London. The "trooping to colors" by selected guards regiments was in traditional style, the difference being that King George was at Windsor and that the 21-gun salute was therefore Windsor's lot rather than London's. This was the first time King George had spent his birthday at Windsor since he came to the throne 19 years ago.

MOUNT VESUVIUS IN ERUPTION Lava Stream 40 Feet Wide Pours Into 'Hell Valley'

NAPLES, Italy, June 3.—Mount Vesuvius, scourge of the rich Neapolitan valley, burst suddenly into eruption again this afternoon.

The eruption occurred on the southeast side of the crater at the base of a small cone. A stream of lava poured out in the direction of Pompeii, which Vesuvius wiped out 1850 years ago. The lava stream was nearly 40 feet wide. No danger was foreseen for new dwelling of the ancient excavated city of Pompeii since the lava was pouring into "Hell Valley." The interior eruptive cone maintained its normal activity.

The two aviators narrowly escaped disaster at Le Bourget field last summer when they attempted to take off for America in an overloaded plane. They are using the same model Bernard monoplane with 600-horsepower Hispano-Suiza motor that they had last year.

SUPREME COURT UPHOLDS SIX MONTHS' TERM FOR SINCLAIR IN JURY SHADOWING CASE

CARTRIDGES IN WOMAN'S TRUNK CLEW TO MURDER

Of Same Caliber Used in Killing Housekeeper of Mrs. Cassler's Husband—Body in Swamp.

MAN TELLS POLICE OF WIFE'S THREATS

Chicago Woman, Recently Saved From Gallows, Placed Under Arrest Denies Charge.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, June 3.—Mrs. Catherine Cassler, who spent 25 months in jail for murder, part of the time under sentence of death, was back today with new murder accusations against her.

A mesh of circumstances which began forming even before her release from jail April 20, has involved Mrs. Cassler in the inquiry into the death of Camille Soutar, the 24-year-old divorcee whose body, a bullet through the heart, was found in a swamp near Hebron, Ind., Friday.

In the face of police charges, Mrs. Cassler has maintained a calm denial of any knowledge concerning Miss Soutar's death. She said she knew her husband, Truman Cassler, had employed the young woman as housekeeper part of the time Mrs. Cassler was in jail, and that she had heard other things involving the two. "Camille," as Miss Soutar was called, was said to have called on Mrs. Cassler in jail several months ago, taunting her with a story that she and Mrs. Cassler's husband were to be married. Mrs. Cassler, however, said, "I wasn't mad at her for it. I don't get mad."

TELLS OF WOMAN'S THREATS.

There were several circumstances that police at Valparaiso, Ind., where Mrs. Cassler is held, were unable to get the 40-year-old woman to explain. Mrs. Cassler's husband provided the most damaging information. He said that three days after his wife's release from jail she had confronted Miss Soutar and himself, threatening them with a revolver.

Mrs. Cassler said she had not been near Hebron, Ind., for three years; but police pointed out that Hebron was her old home town, and they had three witnesses who said they had seen Mrs. Cassler there Tuesday.

Miss Soutar was killed with a .32-caliber bullet. Police found a quantity of cartridges of the same caliber wrapped in a handkerchief in a trunk belonging to Mrs. Cassler at the home of her sister. The sister, Mrs. Grace Stringham, said Mrs. Cassler had had access to the trunk in the last two weeks.

Son Held for Questioning.
The woman's 19-year-old son, said he had taken his mother driving last Tuesday, but that they had not gone outside Chicago. He said he saw a revolver in her possession, but the weapon has not been found.

Young Cassler is being held for questioning. Another being detained as a material witness is Chester Johnson, who identified Miss Soutar's body as that of the girl he planned to marry.

Then there was Truman Cassler's story of going home last Monday night (the day Miss Soutar was seen last, and finding the place strangely quiet. He said he saw the Missus and Edward acting funny.

"I asked her what was the matter," Cassler said, "and she said, 'Your sweetie was here today, but she won't be bothering any more. She went out breaking up our family. She's gone away.'"

"I asked her where, and she only snickered. There were stains on the bathroom floor. The place had been all washed up, but there were still stains."

Charles H. Lutz, 40, Kills Mrs. Olga Held, 51, Wife of Policeman, Who Took Parent's Part.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, June 3.—Mrs. Olga Held, 51 years old, was shot and killed by her brother, Charles H. Lutz, 40, in the presence of their father, Charles F. Lutz, 75, at 9 a. m. today in the elder Lutz's attractive modern home at 6127 Grand-Kingshighway. Lutz then shot himself in the head, and is in a critical condition at City Hospital.

A family grudge, based on Lutz's belief that his sister would keep him out of a share in their father's substantial property, caused the tragedy.

Mrs. Held was the wife of Patrolman Louis A. Held, the surviving one of three policemen who defended a South Broadway packing plant against an attack of payroll robbers in 1922. Held was wounded by the robbers, but recovered. For the murder of the two other policemen, two men were hanged.

LINDBERGH'S SPENDING HONEYMOON ON YACHT

On Way to Boston in 38-Foot Motor Craft After Cruising in Long Island Sound.

By the Associated Press.
NEW LONDON, Conn., June 3.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and his bride, who was Miss Anne Morrow, went to sea for their honeymoon. In a new 38-foot motor boat, the Mouette, they have been cruising in Long Island Sound, since their marriage at Englewood, N. J., a week ago, probably tying up at night in some quiet harbor along the Long Island shore each night.

Just at present it is thought the Mouette is off the tip of Long Island heading for Boston.

On Saturday afternoon a boat with a tall, light-haired young man at the wheel, put in at Block Island for gasoline and oil, and Capt. Louis Rounds of the Elizabeth Ann gave him a helping hand to tie up. In the pilot house there was an exchange of seafaring and other talk, and the yachtman admitted to Rounds that he was Lindbergh.

The Mouette was supplied with necessities and Lindbergh took on a barrel of water as well, and after a short stay left for a cross sound trip, which would have brought the craft to Montauk Point.

Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh eluded everybody a week ago this afternoon when they took their departure from the home of Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow at Englewood.

Lindbergh Bought Motor Yacht Two Weeks Ago.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, June 3.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh bought a 38-foot double cabin motor yacht named Mouette two weeks ago, one week before he was married and set forth on his honeymoon.

This was authoritatively learned today, although the Elco Boat Works of Bayonne, N. J., builders of the yacht, said they could not say anything about the matter.

Penalty of 15 Days Imposed on William J. Burns by Lower Tribunal, However, Is Set Aside.

SENTENCES MAY RUN CONCURRENTLY

If Judge Allows This, Oil Man Who Is Now Serving Three Months May Be Free in November.

By CHARLES G. ROSS, Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—By decision of the United States Supreme Court today, Harry F. Sinclair must serve another six months in a common jail for his part in the shadowing of jurors during the Sinclair-Pail oil conspiracy trial in the autumn of 1927.

The multimillionaire oil man is already in the District of Columbia jail serving a three months' sentence for his refusal to answer questions of a Senate Committee in the oil investigation. He has served about three weeks of this term.

In affirming the decree of the District of Columbia Supreme Court against Sinclair in the jury tampering case, the United States Supreme Court held also that the sentences against H. Mason Day, one of Sinclair's executives, and W. Sherman Burns of the Burns Detective Agency, were just and must be carried into execution.

W. Sherman Burns was sentenced to pay a $1000 fine and H. Mason Day to serve four months in jail.

The decision against William J. Burns, head of the detective agency bearing his name, which carried on the jury shadowing operations, was reversed on the ground of insufficient evidence. He had been sentenced to 15 days in jail.

No Dissenting Opinion.

The opinion of the Court was by Justice McReynolds. There was no dissent. Justice Stone, because of his prior headship of the Department of Justice, which prosecuted the cases, took no part in their disposition.

In passing judgment on Sinclair and his codefendants, the Supreme Court declared there could be no doubt that their acts had tended to defeat the impartial administration of justice. The opinion contained a scathing indictment of the average private detective as a man lacking in "fine scruples" and given to the manufacture of charges.

Supporting the view that the acts complained of were in contempt of court, the opinion cited the case of the Toledo Newspaper Co., in which the company was held guilty of contempt because of the publication of articles commenting on a pending equity case. "We think the trial judge rightly held it unnecessary to allege or show actual contact between an operative of the detective agency and the juror, or that any juror had knowledge of being observed," said the opinion.

Jury Shadowing Denounced.
"That the acts here disclosed, and for which three of the appellants were certainly responsible, tended to obstruct the honest and fair administration of justice we cannot doubt. The jury is an essential instrumentality, an appendage of the court—the body ordained to pass upon guilt or innocence. Exercise of calm and informed judgment by its members is essential to proper enforcement of law."

"The most exemplary respect having their footsteps dugged by private detectives. All know that"

GLOVER PROMISES NO HASTY ACTION ON NEW AIR ROUTE

Assistant Postmaster-General Replies to W. B. Weisenburger's Protest Against Ignoring St. Louis.

Assurance that the Postoffice Department will not act hastily in establishing a second trans-continental air mail route is given today by Assistant Postmaster-General W. Irving Glover, in a letter to Walter B. Weisenburger, president of the Chamber of Commerce.

Glover's letter is in response to a communication from Weisenburger informing him that St. Louis business interests had been aroused by the disclosure that a second coast-to-coast air mail route, which ignores St. Louis, is contemplated.

Glover's letter in part follows: "With reference to the desire of the citizens of your city for an air mail route from New York to St. Louis. This matter is under consideration by the department and nothing definite can be stated with regard thereto at this time. It is a matter that cannot be decided with any haste, inasmuch as it involves many factors peculiar to the transportation of mail by aircraft. I will be glad to see that you are advised when a decision is reached."

Cincinnati Offers Argument. Considerable interest in the Chamber of Commerce's campaign for recognition of St. Louis in the allocation of air mail routes, is being shown in Cincinnati, Columbus, Dayton and Pittsburgh. W. C. Guilan, executive vice president of the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce, in a letter received by Walter B. Weisenburger, president of the St. Louis Chamber, urged that consideration be given to the advisability of having the proposed St. Louis-New York line routed through Indianapolis, Cincinnati, Dayton, Columbus and Pittsburgh, asserting that while such a route would add slightly to the mileage of the line, the tonnage that would accrue would more than offset this.

"In offering some argument as to why the air mail route from St. Louis east should pass through Cincinnati, Cullins' letter said: 'We may appear, and doubtless are, affected somewhat by selfish interests, but I believe there is something a good deal more important than that in the whole proposition.'

Only 40 Miles Extra. "Of course, basically, air mail should go by the quickest and most direct route, but nevertheless we have been through two battles and know some of the determining factors that enter into the matter. Primarily it must have poundage sufficient to interest the contractor, not only in bidding on the job but in keeping it going after he has received the contract."

"Now, it would seem useless to overlook a metropolitan center of some 700,000 people which has more poundage than Indianapolis or Columbus and greater postal receipts than both of these combined, so it would seem the logical thing to run the route from St. Louis to Indianapolis, down to Cincinnati, back through Dayton and Columbus, over to Pittsburgh."

"It will probably surprise you to know that the additional mileage is something less than 40 miles and would add materially to the number of people served and the amount of postal matter, which, of course, would reflect on the cost of operation. You will find as you go along that this amount of mail carried, both potential and actual, is a very important feature of the whole proposition."

TWO THEORIES IN DEATH OF WOMAN IN HOTEL

Detroit Coroner Says She Was Killed in Struggle — Heart Disease, Police Think.

By the Associated Press.

DETROIT, Mich., June 3.—Police and the Coroner's office were divided today on theories accounting for the death in a hotel room Saturday of Miss Mary Baylis Lee, 27-year-old daughter of wealthy New York parents and formerly a teacher in fashionable schools there.

Dr. James E. Burgess, Coroner, thinks a broken neck, battered face and chest, scratched hands and arms sufficient evidence that the young woman was killed after a struggle. Inspector Fred W. Frahm, head of the police homicide squad, said he was satisfied Miss Lee died of heart disease, and that her neck was broken when the body was taken to the morgue. The body was found while reclining in a position simulating sleep, by a hotel maid who entered the room to clean it. Miss Lee was working here with a crew of Columbus, O., magazine solicitors and did not work Saturday morning. It is thought she met death some time in the preceding night.

Because of the absence of signs of a struggle, a police physician made only a cursory examination at the hotel and declared death was due to natural causes. When further examination was made at the morgue, however, the broken neck and other injuries were discovered.

Coroner Burgess said presence of a hemorrhage at the point of fracture indicated it was suffered before death. He ordered a second post mortem examination, to be performed today.

Frahm said he learned from Miss Lee's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Lee, that she suffered five years ago from an inflammation of the brain covering, an aftermath of influenza, and as a result was afflicted with convulsions. He suggested the vertebrae fracture might have occurred in such a spasm.

Miss Lee's father, a construction engineer, is expected here today. He told police over the telephone last night that his daughter quit teaching several months ago to "see the world" and chose the magazine work. Miss Lee knew no one here, according to her fellow workers.

U. S. SUPREME COURT REFUSES TO RULE ON ALUMINUM TRUST

G. D. Haskell, Seeking $45,000,000 Damages, Charged Combine to Prevent Competition.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—The Supreme Court refused today to pass on a case wherein George D. Haskell charged that an aluminum trust was in operation.

Haskell, whose home is in Springfield, Mass., had asked for $45,000,000 in damages and was awarded an $8,000,000 judgment in lower courts. A Court of Appeals, however, set aside the judgment, and the case was taken to the highest court.

Contending that the James B. Duke interests had broken an agreement over a Canadian power project, and had been influenced by a conspiracy with the Aluminum Co. of America to prevent him from competing in the aluminum business, Haskell brought proceedings under the antitrust law in the Federal District Court for New Jersey.

The Court of Appeals held there was no evidence to warrant the finding that there had been an agreement between Haskell and Duke to engage in the manufacture of aluminum for sale in competition with the Aluminum Co. of America.

GAS-ELECTRIC MOTOR ENGINE PUT IN USE BY ROCK ISLAND

Railroad Officials Describe It As "Most Powerful Motor Car in World."

One of three 400 horsepower, distillate-burning, gas-electric motor engines, built for the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railway Co., has been put in operation between St. Louis and Kansas City. The objection, because of its noise, to the gas motor engine which has been pulling the local train for several years has been overcome by the almost silent and more powerful development of the smokeless engine, which draws four passenger coaches and may be used in freight service.

Rock Island officials describe the new engine as "the most powerful motor car in the world." Ten more, built to specifications made by the railway's engineers, have been ordered for use on local trains throughout the system.

PROPOSES LEGAL RECOGNITION OF ST. LOUIS AREA

Prof. Reed of Michigan University Arrives to Begin Survey of City-County Expansion.

Thomas H. Reed, professor of political science at the University of Michigan, who has been engaged to plan metropolitan expansion or a consolidation of some sort of St. Louis and St. Louis County, addressed a joint luncheon of the Chambers of Commerce of the city and county, at Hotel Statler today. This marked the beginning of his activities here, which are expected to require two years or more.

Prof. Reed was employed by the Metropolitan committees of the two chambers. He is regarded as an expert in the planning of metropolitan government and was employed in the Pittsburgh expansion plan, which is about to be consummated; also in the metropolitan scheme in Alameda County, Cal., which was defeated.

In a statement today, Prof. Reed said he was here to aid the two chamber committees in the preparation of "a plan for a Greater St. Louis." In this task, he went on, "three objectives will be kept unfailingly in mind: 1. To gain legal recognition for the real St. Louis area, with the census rating which belongs to this industrial district; 2. To provide a solution for the Governmental problems caused by the rapid extension of population into St. Louis County; 3. To preserve to the greatest possible degree the vitality and powers of local self-government of the individual communities in the St. Louis region."

Charter to Be Drafted.
"Neither the joint committee nor myself has any pre-conceived ideas as to just how these objectives are to be attained," he continued. "It will be necessary to collect and analyze the facts of the situation. A study will be made of the organization, functions and finances of the various units of Government which appear in the present system."

"In making these investigations we expect to secure the co-operation of many local organizations and individuals. When the facts have been gathered, they will be analyzed and the conclusions will be formulated in an enabling constitutional amendment and a charter, upon which the people will have the last word."

Whether the present St. Louis Charter would be affected remains to be determined, Prof. Reed said. Should there be some sort of definite consolidation of political units, a new or revised charter might be necessary for the city, but a federation of units likely would require no change of Charter. The possibility of a complete merger of the city and county is not precluded, but Prof. Reed at present is doubtful whether such a scheme would work. It will be recalled that the county voted down an outright annexation in 1926, but that the city favored it.

Work to Begin in Fall.
Active work of the survey will start next autumn, Prof. Reed announced, with a headquarters in the Chamber of Commerce Building. Probably included in the staff will be qualified students of Washington and St. Louis universities. Local assistance will be employed primarily. Reed expects to devote a great deal of his own time to the work. He does not plan to teach in the college semester starting in September, but has arranged to conduct courses at Harvard University in the following semester. He will spend a few days here this month in a preliminary inquiry.

The Pennsylvania Legislature has adopted the essentials of the Pittsburgh plan devised by Prof. Reed, who said the people of Allegheny County were expected to approve it on June 25. It provides for a federation of 125 cities, boroughs and townships of the county under the name of the City of Pittsburgh.

"The local units," Prof. Reed added, "preserve most of their present rights and powers, but the government of the consolidated city has, in addition to the powers formerly possessed by the county, authority to deal with problems of general concern."

Prof. Reed was born in Boston 47 years ago and educated at Harvard and Columbia universities. He resides at Ann Arbor, Mich. He was attorney for the New York State Anti-Saloon League, 1904-09, and has been a member of the University of Michigan faculty since 1909. For a time in 1911 he was executive secretary to Gov. Hiram Johnson of California and from 1916 to 1918 he was city manager of San Jose, Cal.

In politics he styles himself a Progressive Republican. He is the author of a number of publications and recently published a translation from the French, entitled "Leopold of the Belgians," the life of the famous King of Belgium.

Roosevelt to Take Post Oct. 1.
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, June 3. — Word has been received at the White House that Theodore Roosevelt, at present on a hunting trip in the interior of China, will not return to America to take up his post as Governor of Porto Rico until mid-September. Horace M. Towler, the present Governor, is to continue until he is relieved by Roosevelt, which is expected to be about Oct. 1.

DRUGGIST, TAKEN FOR BOOTLEGGER, TORTURED 5 DAYS

Chicagoan Tells Police He Was Kidnaped and Wounded With Pieces of Jagged Glass.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, June 3.—A story of five days of torture at the hands of hoodlums who mistook him for another and sought to obtain information from him regarding a moonshine still of which he knew nothing, was told to police yesterday by Matthew Zimmerman, druggist, reported kidnaped in a Chicago street last Tuesday.

Returning to his home, Zimmerman told of being thrown out of an automobile at Hammond, Ind., Saturday, after having been held captive since Tuesday night by a group of armed men, who forced him into an automobile on the northwest side of Chicago.

"When they seized me, I thought I was going to be robbed," Zimmerman said. "Instead, they blindfolded me and we drove a long distance. I could tell we went through Whiting and Gary.

"Finally we came to a small wooden shack and got out. The men began abusing me and calling me
'Matt Dillgo.' They cursed me and told me to tell where 'that distillery' was. Of course, I couldn't, and when I protested I was not Dillgo it brought more abuse.

"Every day it was some new torture. Saturday they stripped me.
'Now, Dillgo, you tell us!' they ordered. When I couldn't they took jagged pieces of glass and cut me about the chest and abdomen."

Zimmerman displayed the results of the cutting and also displayed burns and bruises on his body.

"When they finished cutting me with glass, they began burning me with cigarettes," Zimmerman continued. "I pleaded with them to kill me and end this torture. Finally, Saturday night, a clean-cut, nice looking chap came in and saw me.
He swore the men and berated them, saying they had the wrong man. So they cursed me again, blindfolded me, drove me away in their car and dumped me out, telling me I was lucky to be alive."

Zimmerman said he was thrown from the automobile near a bridge and narrowly missed falling into the river. He tried to walk, but collapsed and was picked up by passersby. His captors were Italians, he said.

Police are investigating a theory that Zimmerman was mistaken for one of the notorious Aiello brothers, bootleggers, distillers and gang leaders. "Aiello," and not "Dill-go," police think, may have been the name by which the men addressed Zimmerman.

WATER IN SWIMMING POOLS TESTED FOR HARMFUL GERMS

Health Department Inspector Takes Samples From 33 in City Twice a Week.

The Health Department has put in force a set of new rules, based on experiments begun last July, to insure sanitation and the best possible health conditions in St. Louis public and private swimming pools.

One inspector, working directly through the Health Department, devotes his entire time to taking samples of water from the 33 public and private pools twice a week.
The specimens are promptly analyzed and reports are made to operators of the pools.

The new regulations provide that not more than 50 per cent of the specimens from each pool each month shall show a trace of colon bacilli, the typhoid germ, and that not more than 30 per cent shall show a colon count of 10 per cubic centimeter. The median monthly bacterial count must be not more than 2000.

Max Kaufman, Assistant Health Commissioner, who is directing the work, said the rules for observation of the physical condition of bathers would be more rigidly enforced.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, June 3.—Details of a nine-year contract between the Ford Motor Co. and the Soviet Government, calling for the purchase of about $30,000,000 worth of Ford cars and parts in the next four years and the construction in Russia of a factory where Ford autos will be turned out, were made public today at the offices of the Amtorg Trading Corporation, Soviet trade organization. The contract was signed last Friday at Dearborn, Mich.

The details were given out by Valory R. Meshlous vice chairman of the Supreme Economic Council of the Soviet Union, and Saul G. Bron, chairman of the Board of Directors of Amtorg.

R. to produce 100,000 cars per annum. The Ford Motor Co. will supply us with all the plans and other technical data required in order to organize the factory and to carry on production in the most efficient manner."

Signs have been posted giving the present rules, which prohibit parking between 7 and 9:30 a. m. and between 4:30 and 6 p. m., but permit it for an hour at a time between 9:30 a. m. and 4:30 p. m.

WESTERN ROADS MUST PAY B. & O. TRANSFER COSTS

Supreme Court Orders
Master Appointed to Determine Restitution to Eastern Carriers.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 3. — The Baltimore & Ohio and other Eastern railroads, connecting with Western lines at St. Louis, won in the Supreme Court today when the Court ordered the appointment of a special master to determine the amount the Eastern lines should receive as restitution of transfer charges paid by them on westbound freight crossing the Mississippi River.

The Supreme Court, in May, 1928, held that the westside lines must pay the transfer charges on certain classes of westbound freight crossing the Mississippi at St. Louis. The eastside carriers had been paying those charges. The trial court refused to appoint a special master to take testimony and report the amount of the transfer charges which the Eastern lines contended should be refunded to them.

The west side lines asserted the transfer charges had not reached them, but had been paid to the Terminal Association at St. Louis, and insisted that to recover them the east side lines must bring a new suit. The east side lines appealed to the Supreme Court, arguing that the refund was a necessary part of the original proceeding, and that the lower Federal Court should have taken all necessary action to aid them in recovering money they had been unlawfully required to pay.

EUGENE J. McMAHON DIES

Eugene J. McMahon, an attorney with office in the Arcade Building, died at St. Mary's Hospital early today of a tumor of the brain. He had been ill since last August.

Mr. McMahon, who was 35 years old, was graduated from St. Louis University Law School in 1917 and entered an officers' training camp at Camp Dodge, Ia. He was commissioned a Second Lieutenant, serving at several camps in this country until the armistice. Following his discharge from the army, Mr. McMahon entered general law practice. He was a member of the St. Louis Bar Association. His widow, Mrs. Gertrude McMahon, and five children survive.

Hands Artists Rave About

Whenever New York artists or photographers want an exquisite pair of hands for "close up" reproduction they call on Annette Grandin. She has hands of rare beauty that can stand "close up" reproduction because they are so delicately white and smooth.

"The secret," Miss Grandin says, "lies not in any special care, or in the use of fancy lotions, but simply in a skin bleach of my own making. I get three ounces of Grahall White at the corner druggist and mix it with the juice of two lemons. This makes a full quarter pint of a remarkable, and at the same time perfectly harmless bleach. I rub a little into my hands—also my neck and face—every night and this keeps my skin not only clear and white, but soft and smooth."

FIFTH-BROOKLYN.—Freder-

HELEN WILLS AGAIN SHOWS POWER IN WINNING FRENCH NET TITLE

Captures French Tennis Title

AMERICAN GAINS STRAIGHT SET VICTORY OVER MME. MATHIER

PARIS, June 3.—Helen Wills has demonstrated her right to sit on the throne as queen of a world's tennis championships. She won a women's singles championship the French hard-court tournament yesterday by defeating the French player of France, Mme. Mathieu, 6-3, 6-4, in the final round.

The American girl's victory not only gave her the French title for the second year in succession but showed clearly at the same time that she ranks in a class by herself among women tennis players. Mme. Mathieu put up a plucky fight but whenever there was need to apply pressure Miss Wills clearly demonstrated her superiority. She trailed, three to two in the first set and then ran out four games in a row to win. In the second, Mme. Mathieu pulled even the four games all only to see the American take the next two in easy fashion for set, match and championship.

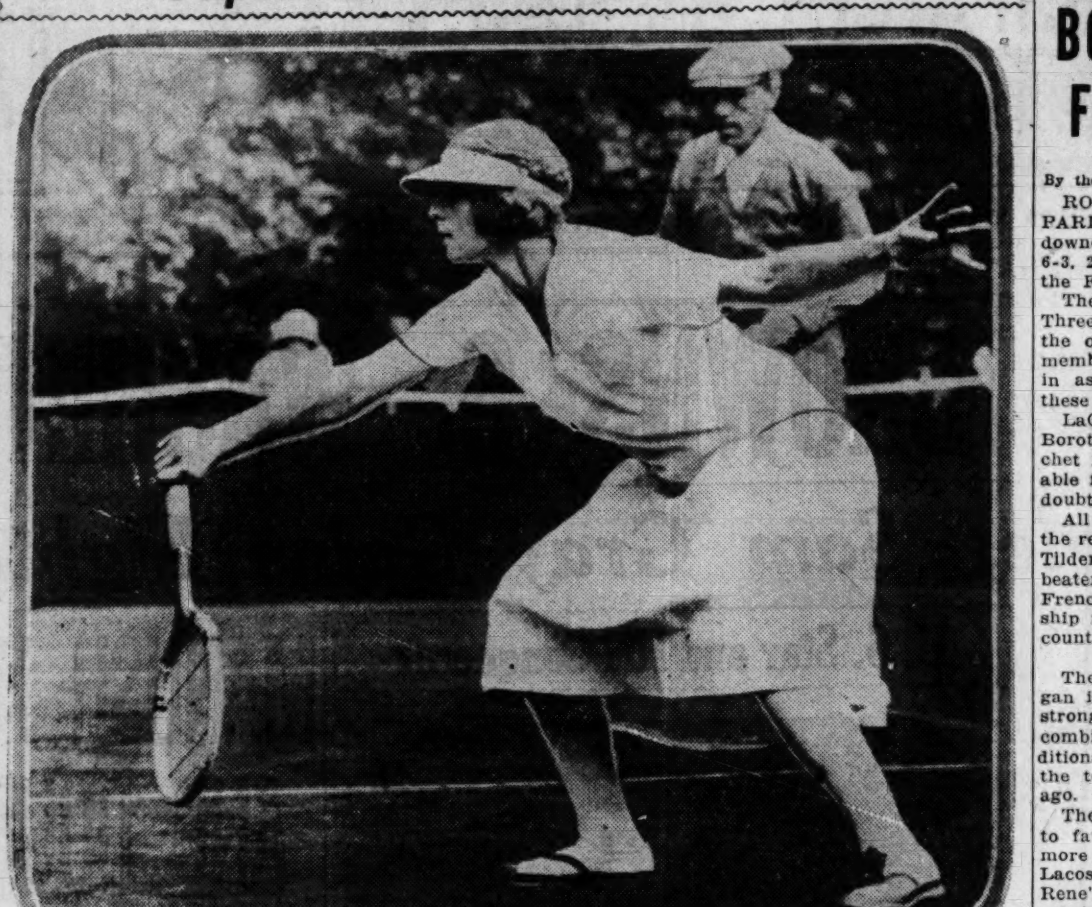

The final of the women's singles held a major share of interest among the 12,000 spectators—the largest crowd that ever saw a tennis match in France.

The match between Miss Wills and Mme. Mathieu brought together two of the most powerful rivers in feminine tennis.

The two girls started at a whirlwind pace. In the first set the French woman once again came to two, but Miss Wills, apparently troubled by the cross court breeze, played more carefully to run out four straight games and he set. Neither girl once ventured to the net. All points were won through fast and furious driving which resulted either in clean placements or adversary's errors. Mme. Mathieu, with nothing to lose and desirous of making the best possible showing, played a much better game than she had in the first set. She trailed, one to one, when she was trailing one game to three. This set stroking seemed to bother Miss Wills and the French woman brought the score to four all. This effort tried Mme. Mathieu, however, and she had nothing left to meet the dazzling power of the American's game and Miss Wills ran out two games for set, match and championship.

Stroke analysis of the Wills-Mathieu match:

CHICAGO, June 3.—University of Iowa officials today were marshaling their forces in preparation for their meeting with a special committee of the Big Ten Faculty group, which will hear Iowa's petition for reinstatement into the conference.

Prof. George A. Goodenough of the University of Illinois, last night announced that the meeting at which he, with Prof. P. E. French of Ohio State University and Prof. James Page of the University of Minnesota, will represent the Faculty Committee, would be held here tomorrow.

The group, he said, would hear the Iowa spokesman and would then recommend a course of action to the committee. He said any one of three recommendations might be made. They were:

That the severing of athletic relations with Iowa by other Big Ten schools after Jan. 1, 1920, might be reaffirmed.

That the period to Jan. 1, 1920, be made a probationary one, after which the committee would make a decision on Iowa's status.

That Iowa immediately be restored to good standing in the Big Ten.

When Iowa was expelled last week, the reason for the action by the Big Ten Faculty Committee was giving as "recruiting and substituting athletes." Since that time the reason gradually has evolved into one of charges of alumni and outside interference in the administration of athletics at Iowa.

The charges of interference developed other angles, among them reports that Paul E. Belling had been ousted from the position of athletic director because he opposed the alumni practice of boosting Iowa by bringing in athletes and providing for their maintenance and that George T. Bresnahan, Iowa track coach, had been appointed as supervisor of intercollegiate athletics, under Dr. E. A. Lauer, now director of athletics, because he was more sympathetic toward the alumni attitude.

Bresnahan last night stated that he had not resigned and would not resign "until I am convinced that such a step will be for the good of the university."

MUNICIPAL OPERA TO OPEN ELEVENTH SEASON TONIGHT

"The Love Call" to Be Presented at Open Air Theater in Forest Park at 8:15 P. M.

Every member of the Municipal Opera's 1929 cast, together with several special character actors obtained for the production, will appear tonight in "The Love Call," which at 8:15 o'clock opens Municipal Opera's eleventh season in the Municipal Theater in Forest Park.

No opera ever offered on that stage has required so large a cast for its presentation, and in addition to the augmented cast of professional players, several members of the 1929 chorus have been advanced to minor speaking parts. Interest centers not only in "The Love Call," based upon Augustus Thomas' stirring drama "Arizona," but also in the large number of new faces in the 1929 cast and chorus. Only three players of former years are included in the list of principals. In the chorus of 96 there are 69 boys and girls new to the Municipal Theater's stage.

Members of the cast from former years are Florence Ames, principal comedienne; Alice Mackenzie, ingenue; and William J. McCarthy, second comedian. New faces among the principals this season are those of Eva Clark, prima donna; Grace Yeager, contralto; Sibylla Bowhan, soubrette; Roy Cropper, tenor; Pierre White, baritone; William C. Gordon, basso; and Truman Stanley, juvenile.

Tonight's audience, it is indicated, will be the largest opening audience in Municipal Opera's history. Gov. Caulfield is expected to attend and most of the guarantees have obtained tickets. Special arrangements for transportation have been completed by the co-operation of the People's Motorbus Co. and the Public Service Co. The former will run busses direct to the main entrance of the Municipal Theater, connecting with its other bus lines to and from all points in St. Louis by means of transfer for the one fare. The Public Service Co., through its co-ordinated motorbus and street car service, will transfer from its car lines direct to the opera bus for one street car fare.

The complete cast for "The Love Call" follows:
Wang, Maurice; Shriber, Sam; Claud Thorsen; Joe, Joseph Burke; Tim, Jan Sadlo; Mike, Walter Eilers; Slim Carter, Jack Tuttle; Lena Keller, Grace Yeager; Tony Mustano, Truman Stanley; Estrella-Canby-Bonham, Alice Mackenzie; Colonel Bonham, David Andrada; Henry Ca'z, William C. Gordon; Reginald Pargester, Florence Ames; Doctor Fenlon; William J. McCarthy; Miss McCullagh; Sibylla Bowhan; Mrs. Canby; Sara Andrada; Bonita Canby, Eva Clark; White Horse, Edward Woodleigh; Captain Hodgman, Pierre White; Sergeant Keller, Johnny Hanley; Lieutenant Denton, Roy Cropper; Red Crow, Aubrey Franklin; Black Hawk, Leo Doherty; Many, Elmer Maehl; A. Padre, Elvin Kern.

CHINA THOUGHT TO HAVE LOST DIPLOMATIC RIGHTS IN RUSSIA

Indication Given by Paper Supporting Protest Against Raids on Soviet Consulates.

By the Associated Press.

MOSCOW, June 3.—The newspaper Pravda, organ of the Central Committee of the Communist party, comments strongly in support of the Soviet note of protest against raids by Chinese authorities on its consulates in Manchuria.

"The time has arrived," it says, "to remind these lackeys of imperialism that there is an end to everything and that representatives of a government not recognizing any laws or rules of international intercourse cannot expect application of such rules to themselves. Simultaneously this first step (the Soviet note) must serve as a decisive warning against those who unscrupulously presume on the love of peace of the Soviet Government."

This statement was taken as a quasi-official announcement that Chinese diplomatic missions and representatives throughout the Soviet Union had been deprived of extra-territorial rights and diplomatic immunities. The Chinese missions, however, have not withdrawn and representatives said they had asked Nanking for instructions which were not yet received.

SAYS BRITISH LABOR VICTORY WILL SHOW EFFECTS IN U. S.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 3.—Success of the Labor party in the recent British elections will have marked influence upon labor organizations in the United States, Mrs. M. H. Barnes, acting national executive secretary of the Socialist party, said today.

"Letters from many of our members and members of trade unions show there has been an intense interest in the Labor party struggle," her statement said. "These reports also show there is considerable dissatisfaction with Labor's lack of political influence and power in this country and a desire to remedy this by more effective political organization of labor's force."

"The British Labor success will not only have a profound influence upon labor in Europe, but will also hearten the thinking labor men of this country to abandon old outlooks and methods so that American labor will also advance with labor movement in other parts of the world."

A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, June 1. — Analysis by two legal experts of the "terminable permits" bill, now before Gov. Caulfield, puts in grave doubt the constitutionality of two of its provisions. One of these is the clause at the end of Section 1,350-a binding the carrier, but by the city, to accept certain conditions and including the provision "and such contract provisions . . . shall not be annulled or modified by any order of the commission (State Public Service Commission) or by any provision of any present or future law."

Both authorities considered by the Post-Dispatch agreed that a contract binding on only one party is not valid, but there might be special circumstances under which a specific case would be exempt from the general rule.

As to the other point, both agree that one Legislature cannot bind future legislatures.
The effect of a Supreme Court decision finding the entire clause invalid might merely be to remove the clause and leave the rest of the bill in effect.

The other and more important question is the one restricting the bill to the City of St. Louis.
This provides that the act shall apply only to cities having 10,000 inhabitants or over, nor to cities having a population of 4,000 to 10,000.

Benjamin H. Charles, a St. Louis attorney, whose opinion is often sought on the validity of bonds and other securities, questioned the constitutionality of this clause in an opinion which was quoted by the bill's sponsors to the House committee which was considering it. It should be noted in passing that the clause was not in the bill as drafted at the order of the St. Louis Transit Survey Commission, but was an amendment made in the House for the express purpose of excluding all of the cities outside of St. Louis from the bill's operation.

The St. Louis sponsors of the bill are obliged to accept the amendment—which has brought the validity of the whole bill under question in order to get the bill passed all. In effect, that if St. Louis wanted the bill, the city could have but the committee and the Legislature did not want it for the rest of the State.

One of the two authorities above referred to told the Post-Dispatch that a valid act could be passed applicable only to a specific class of public utilities situated in a particular city. Both were of the view that the act is a "special or local" and called attention to the fact that the Constitution prohibits the passage of "local or special laws."
The other said there might be circumstances under which the passage of a single clause limited to its operation might be valid, but that if the legislature was clearly the Legislature's reason for passing the bill was that limitation should be placed out by the court, the bill would fail.

There are indications that a test suit may be brought before the Supreme Court to determine the constitutionality of the clause under discussion of the whole bill if the Gov-

BUSINESS LEADERS IN PLEA FOR DRY LAW

Ford and Edison Among 24
Who Urge "Honest Trial Be Given Prohibition."

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 3.—A "message to the American people," urging that "prohibition should be given an honest trial" and bearing the signatures of Henry Ford, Thomas A. Edison, Capt. Robert D. Oldham, J. C. Penney and 20 other men prominent in business and industry, was published today.

The message quoted the plea for law observance in President Hoo-ver's inaugural address and invited Americans, "whatever their previous opinions and social practices, and particularly those in business and professional life, to join with us in following the President. Let us unite to give the eighteenth amendment an honest chance for complete enforcement."

Among the signers are: Col.
Patrick Henry Callahan, Louisville, Ky.; R. Fulton Cutting, New York;
A. A. Hyde, Wichita, Kan.; R. A.
Long, Kansas City; George F. Milton, New York, and Alfred P. Sloan Jr., New York.

A letter, expressing disapproval of the recently organized voluntary committee of lawyers opposed to the eighteenth amendment, and an answer to it by Joseph H. Choate Jr., member of the board of managers of the committee, also were published.

Marshall Stimson, Los Angeles attorney, asked that the committee refrain from using the word "lawyers" to avoid "bringing the legal profession further into disrespect." He asked whether any members of the committee were retained by interests seeking repeal of the amendment.

Choate replied that honest believer is the sole mainspring of the movement, adding: "We believe that prohibition is the most serious remediable evil from which the country now suffers."

PASTOR QUILTS WHEN CHURCH APPLIES GAG

Dean of Episcopal Cathedral in Detroit Had Been Ordered
Not to Discuss Dry Law.

By the Associated Press.

DETROIT, Mich., June 2.—The opposition of a church vestry to a pastor who denounced its members and his congregation from the pulpit is thought to have forced the resignation of the Rev. Herbert L.
Johnson, dean of St. Paul's Episcopal Cathedral.

Dean Johnson announced his resignation yesterday from his pulpit and left with Mrs. Johnson in the afternoon for New York, whence he will sail for a year of study abroad. The vestry, after a special meeting, announced acceptance of the resignation.

Several weeks ago Dean Johnson, who came to Detroit in 1926, from Phoenix, Ariz., publicly denounced his vestry as of "capitalistic character," at the church congress of the Protestant Episcopal Church at Ann Arbor, Mich.

He charged that he had been ordered not to preach on sex, nor to preach prohibition "when I know six of my nine vestrymen have cellars," and was prevented from inviting a speaker of the American Federation of Labor to address the cathedral congregation.

In his sermons since then he has dealt with dissemination of birth control and, while declaring himself opposed to prohibition, said "any man whose hobby it was to preach prohibition from this pulpit would find the pressure so strong that he would be forced to close his mouth or leave."

PERMITS BILL MAY BE FOUND INVALID IF TESTED IN COURT

Constitutionality of Amendment Limiting Its Operation to City of St. Louis Questioned by Two Legal Authorities in Views Given to the Post-Dispatch.

ANOTHER CLAUSE SUBJECT TO DOUBT

Governor Signs Bill and Permit Is Granted Street Car Company Might Be Left Without Any Franchise or With a New Perpetual One Even if Law Is Later Repealed.

A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, June 1.—Analysis by two legal experts of the "terminable permits" bill, now before Gov. Caulfield, puts in grave doubt the constitutionality of two of its provisions. One of these is the clause at the end of Section 10, which binds the carrier, but not the city, to accept certain conditions and including the provision "and such contract provisions as shall not be amended or modified by any order of the commission (State Public Service Commission) or by any provision of any present or future law."

Both authorities consulted by the Post-Dispatch agreed that a contract binding on only one party is invalid, but there might be special circumstances under which a specific case would be exempt from the general rule.

On the other point, both agree that one Legislature cannot bind a future Legislature.

The effect of a Supreme Court decision finding the entire clause invalid might merely be to remove the clause and leave the rest of the bill in effect.

The other and more important question is the one restricting the bill to the City of St. Louis. This provides that the act shall apply only to cities having a population of over 100,000.

Benjamin H. Charles, a St. Louis attorney, whose opinion often is sought on the validity of bonds and securities, questioned the constitutionality of this clause in a letter which was quoted by the bill's sponsors to the House committee which was considering the bill. It should be noted in passing that the clause was not in the bill as drafted at the order of the St. Louis Transit Survey Commission, but was an amendment made in the House for the purpose of excluding all of the cities outside of St. Louis from the bill's operations.

The St. Louis sponsors of the bill are obliged to accept this amendment, which has brought the validity of the whole bill under question in order to get the bill passed. The position of the House is in effect, that if St. Louis and the city could have the bill, the committee and the Legislature did not want it for the rest of the State.

One of the two authorities above referred to told the Post-Dispatch that a valid act could be passed which would apply to a specific class of cities situated in a particular city. Both were of the view that the act is a "special or local" act and called attention to the fact that the Constitution prohibits the passage of "local or special laws."

One of them would be applicable to a general law, expressed in the view that if the State Supreme Court should find the clause invalid, it would be void in its entirety. The other said there might be circumstances under which the invalidity of a single clause might not remove the entire bill from the law effective to the State; but that if the invalidity was clearly the Legislature's reason for passing the bill, the bill would be void in its entirety.

POWER TRUST DENOUNCED IN FAVORABLE REPORT ON NORRIS MUSCLE SHOALS BILL

Senate Committee Declares Production of Electricity Is Secondary to Government Control of Waterways.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Attacking the power trust for its opposition to Government operation of the Muscle Shoals, Ala., plant, the Senate Committee on Agriculture today favorably reported to the Senate the Norris Muscle Shoals bill.

The report declared that the question involved was one of putting the Government into business, holding that it was, rather one of protecting Government property, improvement property, improvement of navigation, and the controlling of damming flood waters and declaring that the power trust still opposes to the bitter end any legislation similar to the Muscle Shoals bill.

An identical resolution was adopted by the last Congress but it was killed by a pocket veto by President Coolidge. When the committee approved it last week, Norris doubted that it could be passed again during the special session but said he would urge its adoption at the first regular session.

Power Production Incidental. "The improvement of our national defense," the report declared, "the control of our navigable streams, and the protection of our people from the damaging destruction of flood waters are the primary reasons why this resolution should be passed."

Production of power, it added, was merely incidental. "If we produce more power than can be utilized," the report continued, "it ought to be a subject for congratulation if, in performance of its duty, it produces more power than can be utilized."

The report recalled that investigations of the Muscle Shoals project were responsible for the inquiry now being made by the Federal Trade Commission into power companies and charged that these corporations have "undertaken through the intricate and secret control of the most human activities, to build up a public sentiment in favor of their viewpoint and in opposition to the retention by the Government of Muscle Shoals and other similar projects."

"Millions of dollars have been spent," as is shown by that investigation, it asserted, "for the purchase of newspapers, for the employment of college professors and school teachers, and in the election of public officials."

In the face of the terrible disclosures made by the Federal Trade Commission, the power trust is still active, it demands that the natural resources of the country shall be turned over to private corporations for private profit. It insists on capitalizing for its own profit, the property of the people.

streets in perpetuity under an unconstitutional act of the Legislature and could never recover them except by adopting a policy of municipal ownership and buying the company's property on terms eventually to be settled by the State Public Service Commission and the courts.

The amendment containing the limiting clause was offered to the House by Representative W. P. Elmer of Dent County. Elmer stated that he was opposed to the bill, but that many counties which would be in effect a perpetual franchise—before the Supreme Court rules on the validity of the limiting clause, a strange situation might result. In the event of the authorities quoted, if the court should knock out the entire law, any permit granted under it before the decision was rendered would be illegal and invalid. In this connection, the St. Louis company would have to surrender its existing franchise, which has 10 or more years to run, to secure the permit, and in the event of the court's decision the company then would be without any franchise.

If, on the other hand, a permit held that only the limiting clause was invalid, thereby establishing the rest of the bill as a law applicable to the entire State, the bill's sponsors to the House probably would be legalized, even though the Legislature at the next session, or any subsequent one, should repeal the law itself. That the Legislature would repeal the law in the circumstances is to be expected, since the Legislature amended the Transportation Survey Commission's bill with the deliberate purpose of restricting it to St. Louis and keeping the rest of the State free from its operation, which purpose would be nullified if the court's action should establish it as the law of the State.

Both authorities heretofore quoted referred to the perpetual franchise grant made by the Legislature to the Laclede Gas Co., under the old Constitution, before this granting power was taken away from the Legislature by the Constitution of 1875, and pointed out that such franchises had since been upheld by the courts. If a grant confers what the courts define as "vested rights," it appears that these rights cannot be impaired or destroyed by subsequent legislation. In short, vested rights acquired under a valid law are not destroyed by later repeal of that law. The only question here is whether a permit granted under the bill just passed would become a "vested right."

Thus, it would seem first, that the St. Louis Public Service Co. in whose interest the bill is drawn—as shown by the Post-Dispatch report of the proceedings of the meetings of the St. Louis Transportation Survey Commission—was obliged, in order to get the bill passed by the Legislature, to accept an amendment which may kill it entirely, and second, it is within the range of possibility for them to acquire the coveted franchise before the questionable amendment can be tested and to retain it as a "vested right" even if the test upsets the amendment but not the whole act, and the Legislature repeals the entire law.

The city of St. Louis in the second case would be in the laughable position of having given away the transportation rights to its

BERLIN PROPOSES SEPARATE PARLEY ON BELGIAN CLAIM

Special Agent Named to Attempt Settlement of Demand for Reimbursement on Marks.

CREDITOR NATIONS SUPPORT GERMANY

France, Italy and Belgium, However, Want Matter Included in General Reparations Pact

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, June 3.—The German Government has formally proposed to Belgium separate negotiations on the still outstanding mark question with a view to settling it before the Paris agreement can come into force or the new reparations plan be jeopardized.

The proposal has been forwarded to Brussels by Robert Everts, Belgian Minister in Berlin. Belgian officials here expressed the belief that the Belgian Government could not be expected to accept the proposal and would undoubtedly continue to insist that the mark question must be negotiated in connection with the reparations conference at Paris.

The problem, which is the only one still remaining open at Paris, is concerned with the marks left in Belgian banks at the end of the World War which eventually became valueless.

The German Government, in making the proposal, took the position that it wished to make a separate pact or agreement with Belgium regarding the marks left in the country, which was a political question outside the competence of the experts, and that Belgium was attempting to use its experts to refuse to sign the reparations agreement.

Every effort is being made to settle the Belgian-German differences, but other representatives are making arrangements to leave for home before the end of the week. One of them, J. Pierpont Morgan, left Saturday for the United States.

The Belgian experts delegation was informed by telephone, from Berlin this afternoon that Dr. Ritter, ministerial director, had been named to carry on negotiations in the Belgian mark question on which complete settlement of the reparations problem now waits.

Dr. Ritter will leave Berlin today for Paris where he will begin conversations with Delegate Gutt of Belgium, who is a member of the Reparations Experts' Committee.

The financial settlement on which the experts have agreed involves annuities averaging 2,000,000,000 marks (about $422,000,000) for 27 years, of 1,700,000,000 marks (about $408,000,000) for 27 years, and a final annuity of 900,000,000 marks (about $216,000,000) in the fifty-ninth year. The sum would have an eventual value of 122,450,000,000 marks (about $29,388,000,000) or a present or capital value of less than $9,000,000,000.

Belgians Still Insist on Settling Marks Question With Debt. By the Associated Press.

PARIS, June 3.—The Belgian experts at the reparations conference late today were still insisting that a settlement of the German marks question must be made at the same time as the signing of the experts' report on reparations. Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, being in the name of the German Government, today delivered a letter to Owen D. Young, chairman of the reparations conference, proposing separate negotiations between Belgium and Germany on the question of German marks left in Belgian banks after the World War.

Dr. Schacht's letter pledged Germany to open the marks negotiations immediately, adding that he saw no reason why the problem should not be settled before the Governments act on the reparations report. Meanwhile the Germans hoped that the allies would go ahead and sign the reparations report without waiting on the negotiations.

on this point despite the greatest moral pressure brought to bear by creditor nation delegates.

Successive German Governments have acknowledged the justice of the Belgian claim, although possibly not to the extent to which it is now being made.

The report of the committee probably will be submitted to a plenary session of the experts by Wednesday. Belgium, however, and now France, insist they will not sign unless their demands are met.

Every effort is being made to settle the Belgian-German differences, but other representatives are making arrangements to leave for home before the end of the week. One of them, J. Pierpont Morgan, left Saturday for the United States.

The Belgian experts delegation was informed by telephone, from Berlin this afternoon that Dr. Ritter, ministerial director, had been named to carry on negotiations in the Belgian mark question on which complete settlement of the reparations problem now waits.

Dr. Ritter will leave Berlin today for Paris where he will begin conversations with Delegate Gutt of Belgium, who is a member of the Reparations Experts' Committee.

The financial settlement on which the experts have agreed involves annuities averaging 2,000,000,000 marks (about $422,000,000) for 27 years, of 1,700,000,000 marks (about $408,000,000) for 27 years, and a final annuity of 900,000,000 marks (about $216,000,000) in the fifty-ninth year. The sum would have an eventual value of 122,450,000,000 marks (about $29,388,000,000) or a present or capital value of less than $9,000,000,000.

Gilbert to Lose Job. The loss by S. Parker Gilbert of his job as general agent for reparations payments will be one of the consequences of the report of the experts if the governments accept the practical suggestion of the reparations' commission as a medium for payments while an experiment with the possibilities in it will be the recommendation that a new international depository be set up to handle reparations called "The bank of international settlements."

Other interesting features apart from the proposed substitution of the annuities advanced by Young for those of the Dawes plan, will be a recommendation by the experts that their governments clean up the last post-war problems such as the obligation of Poland, Rumania, Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia and Italy, as successors of Austrian territory to pay a proportionate part of Austria's public debt.

Young was materially aided in the difficult task of bringing Germany and its creditors to an agreement by David Sarnoff, youthful vice president of the Radio Corporation of America. Sarnoff put off his own business for weeks to remain in Paris and sailed for home yesterday when the agreement seemed assured. The night Dr. Schacht agreed to the amount Germany is to pay Sarnoff worked with him until 2 a. m., neither having eaten dinner.

Now that it is over it is possible to tell that for the last few weeks Young was so fatigued that he spent almost all his time between the sessions of the experts in bed. At times his fatigue was so great that his face was deadly pale, and enormous black circles under his eyes.

The work of the experts has resolved itself into a task of comprehension. The document will open with a brief interpretation by the committee of terms and references under which it worked followed by a short outline of the methods used and work adopted.

This will comprise an explanation of the committee's decision to recommend a new organization for receiving and distributing reparations and how this idea developed into a plan for the international bank.

As no minutes of the committee's deliberations were kept their discussions will be briefly summarized. The report will begin with Young's memorandum outlining a method of procedure at the time when neither the Germans nor creditors were inclined to take the stand.

This will lead up to presentation of the creditors' demand for 37 annuities of 2,000,000,000 marks ($510,000,000); 21 annuities of 700,000,000 marks ($175,000,000); and one annuity of 900,000,000 marks ($225,000,000). Since this proposal was rejected it will be disposed of briefly in the new report which will explain the methods and discussion which resulted from Young's memorandum.

Terms of German Offer. The German offer of 27 annuities of 1,500,000,000 marks ($412,500,000) will also be discussed with a bare mention unless both sets of figures are left out altogether as having been superseded by Young's proposal. The American chairman's second intervention with proper annuities of 2,050,000,000 marks ($492,500,000) over a period of 27 years; 1,700,000,000 marks ($425,000,000) for one year that were finally adopted with slight modifications will be explained at some length, probably with a summing up of conditions to which the Germans subordinated their acceptance. Those conditions, already were in the second draft report along with observations made by the creditors. The experts are now engaged in modifying them in accordance with the final agreement.

Specific recommendations in the report will be:

Substitution of Young's annuities as agreed upon for the Dawes plan.

Substitution of "The Bank for International Settlements" for Reparations Commission and Agent General for Reparations in receiving and distributing payments.

Austrian Debt Question. Settlements by the Governments as soon as possible and at the latest within two years of the question of the obligations incurred by the successor states to Austrian territory.

Reduction and recovery of taxes imposed by creditor countries on German imports from 25 to 20 per cent.

Modification of the Dawes lien on German railroads so as to permit Germans to finance them.

Any event, reduction in the allies war debts to the United States to be applied in reducing the annuities due from Germany.

A moratorium of two years to be accorded on half of the protected part, or 1,390,000,000 marks of the first series of annuities when financial difficulties of the Reich may require.

Commercialization as becomes possible of the amount representing the present value of 500,000,000 marks of the first annuities.

It is unlikely the report will make any reference to war debts other than simple announcement of the agreement whereby German annuities would be reduced proportionately to any eventual reductions made by the United States in debts due them by the allies.

MEXICO RESCINDS BAR ON EXILED CATHOLIC PRELATES

President Portes Gil Orders Visa of Passports of Archbishops and Bishops Banned Two Years Ago.

PRELIMINARY TO PACT WITH CHURCH

Agreement Between the Rt. Rev. Ruiz and Mexican Chief Said to Be Acceptable to the Vatican.

By ARTHUR CONSTANTINE. A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and the New York World.

MEXICO CITY, June 3.—All Catholic archbishops and bishops banished from Mexico two years ago, when they refused to obey the stringent regulations of the Calles Government, are to be permitted to return home immediately. It is expected that all of them will be back by July 1 in time to celebrate with high masses the impending ratification of a new agreement between church and state.

President Portes Gil has ordered Mexican consuls in other lands to visa the passports of the church dignitaries. Of the 25 members of the Episcopate, 21 went into exile in April, 1927.

The understanding reached between Archbishop Ruiz and President Portes Gil has been accepted informally by the Government and the Vatican.

When this agreement is ratified, the returning prelates will instruct their priests to resume church services. Thus masses, which recently have been held only surreptitiously in Mexico, will once more be celebrated throughout the land.

Catholics in Mexico City have received word that Archbishop Ruiz will arrive here this week from Washington. Archbishop Francisco Orozco of San Francisco de Mexico crossed the border Saturday, the first member of the hierarchy to return from banishment.

A great reception will be given to him upon his arrival in Cuernavaca, the second oldest diocese in Mexico. This will be the first of a series of demonstrations to greet the returning prelates.

Three archbishops—those of Guadalajara, Durango and Oaxaca—never able to capture him, Bishop Miguel de la Mora, who became acting head of the hierarchy in Mexico, hid away among friends in this city and its suburbs, emerging from time to time to help attain a church state agreement.

2500 Priests Left Country. Of the 4000 Mexican priests, more than 2500 have left the country within the last two years. This majority went to the United States. Archbishop Ruiz, whose triumphant return as apostolic delegate—the first Mexican ever accorded the distinction—is expected within a few days, made his home first in San Antonio and then in Washington. Archbishop Jose Mora y del Rio, titular head of the Mexican church, died in exile in San Antonio.

No services will be held in the churches until the peace agreement is actually signed. Masses ceased to be celebrated in Mexican churches July 31, 1926. However, in many private homes and chapels, including those of some Government officials, services were held secretly. Similarly priests have continued, under cover, to baptize infants, perform marriages and administer the sacrament to the dying.

JOHN G. NEIHARDT

Celebrated War Novelist

RICHARD MARIA REMARQUE, the author of "All Quiet on the Western Front," hailed by European critics as a remarkable war novelist, is publishing a new novel of international appeal, which is published in this country today, was written in Germany years ago. His family emigrated from France during the 19th century and he settled in the Rhine valley. At the age of 19 he went from school into the army and to the Western front, where he served in the ranks of an infantry regiment throughout the war.

He returned home from the front to find that his mother had died, his friends had been killed and he was alone in the world. He experienced the unrest of the other survivors of his generation. First at home on leave, then in the trenches, he suffered from the war's consequences. In his simple story of the war life of a common soldier—in the trenches, behind the lines, in the hospitals and at home on leave—he attempted to describe three things: the war, the fate of a generation, and the rough, good-natured comradeship.

INSURANCE IN THE DISTRIBUTION OF WEALTH. By Luke Managan. (Luke Managan, publisher, 41 Park Row, N. Y.) The author undertakes to prove that the unequal distribution of wealth in the United States is due to none of the causes commonly discussed by radicals, but solely to a very large and unexplored cause—the distribution of wealth from the "commercial cycle" of our society by means of exorbitant insurance rates. He estimates that the American people lose by this means every year a total of $5,000,000,000, and he contends that the major portion of this enormous sum accrues to a few powerful families. Since most of the same, as he maintains, is due to the unequal distribution of wealth, which in turn he attributes to exorbitant insurance rates, he would solve the crime problem by the simple means of government insurance at cost.

It is an astounding thesis, cleverly elaborated and apparently with wide knowledge of the subject. The book would be more impressive if it were concerned with unearned increment in all fields of modern business and with the very noticeable tendency to give the few the means of consuming the status of the many.

THE FINANCING OF BUSINESS ENTERPRISES. By Avar L. Bishop. (Harpers.)

The aim of this book is to bring together in a single volume the essential theories, facts and procedure in the financing and operation of business enterprises, ranging in organization from the proprietorship to the so-called super-trust. The general financial structure of business enterprises is next developed, and the outstanding forms of stocks and bonds which enter into the financial plans of a company. The best procedure both for arriving at and administering net income is handled in the light of authoritative financial and accounting practice. Such topics as business expansion, consolidation, reorganization and governmental control are discussed. The author is Professor of Finance at Yale University.

THE LOST ART. By Dorothy Van Doren. (Coward-McCann.) Dorothy Van Doren in "The Lost Art" has chosen and arranged a selection of letters of extraordinary variety from the famous letter writers of the last two centuries and such as portray the character of the women who wrote them. From these letters one gets a portrait of Lady Mary Montagu, Mrs. Wollstonecraft, Abigail Adams, Charlotte Bronte, Jane Welsh Carlyle, and Jane Austen.

The authors of the letters represent every shade of social position, financial status and emotional and intellectual turn of mind. Lady Montagu's father was a rich and powerful duke, while the father of Mary Wollstonecraft was a ne'er-do-well, and she was forced to earn her living. Abigail Adams was the wife of a President of the United States as well as the mother of one, and Charlotte Bronte, whose father was a reclusive, lived most of her life in a small parsonage. The letters of the women contrast in the times during which they were written. They proceed from the eighteenth century in England through the time of the American Revolution, and end in the midst of Victorian England. They proceed "From the Age of Reason to the Age of Morality" with a bow to the American and French revolutions on the way.

GARDENING RESTORES INVALIDS TO HEALTH

Shaw's Garden Bulletin Tells How New Life Is Brought to Homebound.

Gardening is restoring confidence and interest in life for the invalids in St. Louis through the agency of special courses at Shaw's Garden for students of the School for Occupational Therapy. The current bulletin of the garden is devoted to an exposition of the experiment largely written by the students themselves. The young women, states the bulletin, "are studying gardening in order that they may be able to direct their future patients in such activities as growing vegetable and flower gardens, operating small greenhouses and brightening hospital sun porches with plants and flowers."

Practical features of operating a small greenhouse, growing plants on sun porches and the propagation of most of the usual garden greenhouse varieties are discussed by the students. One article is devoted to flower games and legends useful in awakening the interest of children.

"The experiment of bringing gardening into the lives of the homebound has been tried in St. Louis under the auspices of the Missouri Association for Occupational Therapy by Miss Laura Nielsen of the home service department," the bulletin sets forth. "In this particular department there are about 40 patients undergoing treatment, including men, women, children, rich and poor, colored and white."

"All types of patients are handled in this service, those handicapped both mentally and physically. Insanity, depression, hysteria and dementia praecox are some of the mental ailments, while physical ailments are many and varied. "The physically handicapped of this group may be grouped in four divisions: Patients whose condition confines them to their homes, but permits being up and around; those who are chair-bound; those who are bed-ridden.

"To bring sunshine, cheer and a new lease on life to the homebound has been the purpose of this experiment. Any one finding that he can actually create anything, whether it be flowers, engines or a dress, derives a great deal of benefit from the creation. When a handicapped person particularly creates something, it does wonders toward restoring his confidence in himself, and the knowledge that he can successfully make one thing spurs him on to making other or attempting more."

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, June 3. Diary of a modern Pepsy: Up and received a new two and a half dollar gold piece in a monogrammed leather case from James Woods, the Los Angeles innkeeper, to use as a good luck piece. And I pray for strength not to spend it.

Came a pleasant letter from the veteran actor, Francis Wilson, and I recall memories of days when he was my favorite player in "Ermine" and other cherished plays. Then to dinner with Archie and Eleanor Andrews and Karl Kitchen there in a cutaway braided coat, very spruce.

In the dusk walking with Courtney Ryley and Genevieve Cooper through Broadway and filling her shop windows and to a little koshier shop for a dinner of gefilte fish and afterward to see a dull cinema, so utterly stupid we walked again until midnight.

NO city in America, nor few in Europe, seems to have such inefficient taxi-cab service as that offered by the metropolis. Every few months a flood of new cabs will be released to raise fresh hopes, but in a short time they become unkempt and shabby and featuring the same sullen indifference from the driver's seat.

It is quite impossible to make the Manhattan character understand there are a few folk who enjoy a leisurely drive. Even should he understand it, he is stubborn, zips you around corners on one wheel and races to beat crossing lights with a series of neck-unhinging lurches.

The taxi driver's flair for never having change has become a topical jest for musical revue and comic weekly. There are a small number of splendid cabs and courteous drivers but 99 per cent of the cabs are rattletaps with drivers masters of studied insolence.

I have yet to see one leave his seat to open the door for a feminine fare—young or old. That innumerable have alliance with the underworld has been proved and is largely responsible for the police regulation requiring their photograph in every cab.

There is scarcely a citizen in New York who has not at some time been subjected to their outrageous impertinence—either as passenger or pedestrian. No class of workers so dependent upon public gratuities shows such utter disregard for ordinary courtesies.

THE champion dog owner of the fashionable fifties is a lady who has six Sealhams, three Boxers and two wire-haired fox terriers. She pays $3000 a year for the roof of her apartment house, where they are kept by a kennel master. For professional sneerers, if any, it might be added the lady is the mother of five children and takes care of her brood herself.

THE RIALTO calls it "Golden Luck." It refers to the ability of John Golden to snatch theatrical hits out of thin air. He has none of the spectacular methods of the average producer. He seems to rest on his oars most of the time, and then at an auspicious moment he peddles all over town. Almost invariably it becomes a "smash."

This season he invested a few thousands in a comedy drama of Long Island society manners and the next day hiked for Florida. He got back his investment in two weeks. While it is called "Luck," there may be a clew in the fact he has never produced a play with a suggestive line or off color situation.

THERE are many other thoroughly decent survivors of the theatricals. For instance, three of the richest actors on the stage are totalitarians, devoted to their families and regular in church attendance.

FROM a society weekly: "Newspapermen have no social aspirations. They have no too much of its sham from the copy desk and as reporters."

Goody, goody, goody, for our side!

AND another magazine has a trade list for journalism: "The good reporter from his earliest youth is usually a straight thinker. He reasons things out and rarely leaps in the dark."

As one who ailed at the age of 11 to cross the Ohio River on a velocipede, we have nothing to say.

The faculty of Mary Institute will give a tea, Wednesday afternoon, at the school in honor of Miss Virginia Stevenson, who has been a teacher there for many years, and who will retire this year from active service.

Former students and friends of Miss Stevenson have been invited for a 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Mrs. Robert Milford Russell has hosted at an attractive tea Saturday afternoon at the home of her mother, Mrs. Charles Cunliff, 15 Windermere place, in honor of two prospective brides, Miss Antoinette Douglas and Miss Katherine Hafner, and Miss Elizabeth Stocking, who has been studying music in New York this winter and has returned home. Mrs. Cunliff and Miss Stocking assisted Mrs. Russell in receiving the guests.

The receiving rooms were adorned with spring flowers arranged in baskets and tall vases, and the dining room had pink for its chief decorative color, with roses, snapdragon and delphinium for the table centerpiece. Those serving were Miss Dorothy Ladd, Mrs. Marjorie Lamborn, Miss Josephine Stocking, Mrs. Francis Douglas, Mrs. Gordon Jaques, Mrs. Harold E. Knight and Miss Jane Pelton. Miss Douglas, the daughter of Mrs. Walter B. Douglas, will become the bride Saturday afternoon of Dr. Edgar F. Schmitz, in the garden of Mr. and Mrs. Hermann von Schrenk's home in Florissant.

Announcement has been made by Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Franklin Orr, 6220 Rosebury drive, of the marriage of their daughter, Mrs. Mildred Orr Beaton, and Calvin Hemmingsway Burke Jr. of Charles City, Ia. Owing to the illness of Mr. Burke, the wedding arrangements were changed and the invitations to the breakfast recalled. The ceremony took place Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock in Charles City. Mr. and Mrs. Orr accompanied their daughter to Charles City, departing from St. Louis Thursday night.

The bride, formerly of Dallas, Tex., was educated at St. Mary's Episcopal College in that city and attended National Park Seminary in Washington, D. C. Later she was graduated from the St. Louis School of Occupational Therapy.

Mr. Burke is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Hemmingsway Burke of Pine Bluff, Ark. He is a brother of Miss Elizabeth Burke of Pine Bluff; William T. Burke of Tyler, Tex.; and Mrs. Donald T. Wright of the Hampden Hall Apartments, Mr. and Mrs. Burke will make their home at Charles City.

Mrs. Samuel E. Newman, 6450 Cecil avenue, will depart this week for Boston, where she will be a delegate to the National Federation of Music Clubs. She will attend the graduation exercises at Wellesley College, June 17, in which her daughter, Miss Ivy Newman, will participate. Her son, Eric Newman, who is a student at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, will return home early in June.

Frank A. Marshall of Kansas City is the guest of his daughter, Mrs. Erwin L. Ocker, 3578 Connecticut street. He is the author of the De Molay ritual. Last Saturday evening he conferred the Legion of Honor De Molay degree upon eight St. Louis boys.

Mr. and Mrs. John P. Boogher, 6300 Waterman avenue, and her daughters, Mrs. Ethel and Miss Elsie Boogher, will depart in a few days for Blowing Rock, N. C., where they will occupy their summer home, "Highwood," for the season.

DIALS ON ALL TELEPHONES
IN NEW MULBERRY EXCHANGE

More than 4000 telephones in Northwest St. Louis were transferred to dial operation at midnight Saturday to complete the conversion of the new Mulberry exchange. The new exchange, added at an estimated cost of $500,000, is the fourth additional unit in the last two and one-half months to provide for growth in the outlying districts.

Gradual transfer of telephones from the Colfax, Forest, Cabany and Parkview areas to the Mulberry exchange in the Evergreen Building was necessary before the major "cutover." Actual conversion required less than five minutes.

LEO RASSIEUR'S
FUNERAL TOMORROW

Services to Be at 2 P. M. at Former Judge's Home, 2355 Whittemore Place.

The funeral of Leo Rassieur, former Probate Judge and former commander in chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, will be at 2 p. m. tomorrow at his home, 2355 Whittemore place.

The service will be conducted by the Rev. F. G. Beardsley, pastor of Fountain Park Congregational Church. At the grave, in Bellefontaine Cemetery, surviving members of the Grand Army and members of other patriotic bodies will be in charge. A salute will be fired and "taps" will be sounded over the grave.

Active pallbearers will be nephews of Judge Rassieur—Arthur E. Kammerer, Theodore Rassieur, Dr. Louis Rassieur, Leo Buder, Oscar E. Koelle and Oscar Buder.

Two notable episodes in the life of Judge Rassieur came in the Civil War and the World War. In 1861, as a youth of 17, he attended a meeting of German-born residents of St. Louis and members of Turner societies, at which a proposal was made that the Germans of St. Louis declare their neutrality between the Union and the Confederacy.

Some prominent men supported this proposal, but young Rassieur sprang upon the speakers' stand, denounced the neutrality plan and called on those loyal to the Union to walk out of the meeting with him. His stand was that which was taken, then or soon afterward, by most of the leaders in the German community. He was one of the many St. Louisans of German origin who fought for the Union through the entire war.

Fifty-six years later, as an old man, his voice no longer strong, but his eyes as bright as in youth, Judge Rassieur stood on the platform of the Coliseum at a mass meeting April 5, 1917, while Congress was considering the declaration of war on Germany. This time Judge Rassieur read his speech, which made a profound impression.

Judge Rassieur told of having been born in Prussia, and said he had visited his old home lately enough to know that the people of Germany did not desire war. He said the German military autocracy had "debauched and misrepresented" public opinion in Germany and had sought to do the same in the United States.

"The powerful military machine of the Hohenzollern dynasty," he declared, "was built not for self-defense, but for destruction of neighboring countries." He said that the German submarine policy and other encroachments had made it necessary for the United States to declare war. "Any other course," he said, "would make a weakening of this great nation. Let us resolve to defend our rights, cost what it will, and earnestly appeal to Congress to throw our lot with our sister republics, France and Russia, and their allies, against autocracy."

His term as national commander of the Grand Army was in 1900-01. Judge Rassieur was president of Camp Jackson Monument Association. He was a lifelong Republican, and one of his latest public appearances was in support of the Coolidge-Dawes ticket in 1924. His death Saturday, at the age of 55, ended an illness which had confined him to his home for a year. A memorial to the former Probate Judge was read into the record of today's session of the Probate Court by Judge Holcamp, and it was announced the court would be in adjournment tomorrow. His portrait, hanging on the wall, with those of other former Judges, was ordered draped in black for 30 days.

Observe the MODERN housekeeper

...and this sensible modern way to keep drains running sweet... and clear.....

THE alert, modern woman—quick to adopt new ways of doing things! Today she has adopted this simple, commonsense method:

'Swish! and the Work is Done

A can of Desolvo (most housewives use it just twice-a-month) and pipes are kept always clear-running and sweet.

"Why, it's no more trouble than winding the clock!" women say. "It's so much simpler to use Desolvo. And so much cleaner too!"

A little water in the pipe—shake in some Desolvo—and swish! the job is done...

Lint, grease, hair—the accumulated sudge that makes drains sulky and sluggish is dissolved away at once. A rinsing flood of water from the tap and the pipe is clear in a jiffy.

And as Desolvo clears—it sterilizes! It's just as if you actually got inside your pipes and scoured and scrubbed until not a speck of dirt or grease were left. It's why Desolvo is such a cleanly habit: why it's never neglected, never overlooked in thousands and thousands of really nice homes today.

For ALL Your Drains—and the Icebox Too!

When you use Desolvo you'll find it simpler to do the whole job at once. Give every drain in the house a regular twice-a-month cleaning (be sure and note the "twice-a-month" calendar shown below) and you'll never, never have trouble with drains.

By all means include the icebox too! It's so important to have that sanitary and sweet.

Your grocery, drug, hardware or department store carries Desolvo. It is also available in larger sizes from your plumber. Order some today... 25 cents for a 12 oz. can.

Lettuce and Chicory. Separate leaves of lettuce, wash thoroughly and chill. Separate leaves of chicory, wash and chill. Blend the green outside leaves of lettuce and arrange on bed of crisp chicory leaves. Garnish with pickled beets cut in fancy shapes. Serve with curry dressing.

Watercress and Dandelion. Select tender sprays of watercress. Wash them thoroughly and cut off the coarse stems. Chill in ice water. Wash tender young dandelion greens, drain and place in the icebox in a cheese-cloth bag to become crisp.

Make a bed of the dandelions and pile the cress lightly in the center. Garnish with strips of red and green pepper and serve with Thousand Island Dressing.

Endive and Romaine. The long and tender leaves of Romaine make an effective bed for stalks of crisp endive.

Separate leaves of Romaine; wash thoroughly; chill. Separate stalks of endive and stand in ice water to become crisp. Lay three or four stalks lengthwise on a leaf of Romaine.

Garnish with strips of red or French dressing.

Baked Apple Compote.

Take two large apples cut in eighths, one tablespoon butter, one-half cup sugar, one-half cup cinnamon and two tablespoons water. Arrange apples in shallow pan; dust with mixed sugar and cinnamon; dot with butter and add water. Bake in a moderately hot oven 20 to 25 minutes.

MILK REQUIRES PROPER CARE PARTICULARLY IN SUMMER

Intelligent Care Includes Cleanly Handling and Good Refrigeration.

Of all the perishable foods going into the refrigerator, milk needs the most intelligent care. It is an ideal medium for bacterial growth at favorable temperatures. Because milk is a food depended upon by young children and invalids, the decomposition products produced by bacteria should be especially guarded against.

Fortunately low temperatures slow down bacterial multiplication and unless the milk freezes—which does not happen until below 23 degrees F., they do not alter its composition in any way. Therefore place the milk in the coldest part of the refrigerator.

Milk bottles should be washed, but care must be taken that the cap is not soaked nor water permitted to remain on the cap because if it gets wet bacteria can easily enter the bottle.

Next to milk meat broths are probably the most delicate foods to be care for. They should be placed, while hot, in sterilized containers, covered tightly, and allowed to cool to room temperature, then placed in as cold a location as your refrigerator affords. In fact, all delicate foods should be placed in sterilized covered containers.

SOME SALAD SUGGESTIONS WORTHY OF REMEMBRANCE

If Put Into Practice the Result Will Be a Delicious Crisp Dish.

To make lettuce deliciously crisp, wash the leaves under cold running water. Dry the leaves carefully. Put the lettuce in a container near the ice for a short time before serving.

To vary your salad base there are other attractive greens which may be used—endive, chicory, escarole, romaine, watercress, Chinese celery or cabbage.

When using ingredients that discolor quickly—such as pears, apples or bananas—a little lemon juice sprinkled over them will keep them fresh-looking until eaten.

When ingredients are diced or chopped, use a sharp knife and then toss them lightly together, preferably with a wooden spoon and fork, to avoid any stirred-up look.

A Thought for the Day. Underbeaten egg yolks may result in a heavy streak at bottom of cake. Expansion of air makes the cake light; if air is lost the cake will be heavy and compact. Undermixing makes a coarse-textured cake, while overmixing and rough handling result in a heavy undersized cake with tough texture.

For Crispy Biscuits. To make biscuits crisp use water instead of milk and double the quantity of shortening.

THESE MEAT DISHES ARE OLD STANDBYS

It Is Well to Occasionally Repeat Directions for Cooking Meats.

Try the recipes listed here for a tempting dish your whole family will like. Each recipe can be easily and quickly prepared into an economical dish.

Crown Lamb Roast. Select parts from two loins containing ribs, scrape flesh from bones between ribs as far as lean meat, and trim off backbone.

Shape each piece in a semicircle, having ribs outside. Sew pieces together to form a crown.

Trim ends of bones evenly, care being taken that they are not left too long.

Place cubes of fat salt pork on tips of bones to prevent them from burning; then cover with buttered paper. Remove pork before serving.

Calves' Brains. Wash brains and remove skin and veins. Soak in cold salted water for twenty minutes and simmer in boiling water for half an hour.

Drain, cut in cubes and toss in white sauce. Form into nests hot, well seasoned mashed potato; fill these with the brains and brown in hot oven.

Liver and Bacon Rolls. Have calves' liver cut one-quarter inch thick. Roll each slice in a strip of bacon and pin with toothpick. Place in broiler over crimping pan and broil 10 minutes in moderate oven.

Mix flour with drippings and stir until brown, add a little water if necessary. Season with salt and pepper and use as sauce.

Prime Rib Beef Roast. Sear 30 minutes in hot oven. Reduce heat to moderate and roast 10 minutes to the pound, basting every 20 minutes, using a little hot water at first then liquid in pan.

Pork Pie. Purchase three pounds of lean, fresh pork from the shoulder. Cut it into strips. Line a buttered dish with rich pastry and put in a layer of pork, seasoning with salt and pepper and pour cold water. Cover with a layer of apples sliced and cored and sprinkle with sugar.

Repeat until the dish is full, having apples on top. Dot with butter, pour in one cup of cider, cover with a thick crust of rich pastry, cut a slit in the top, brush with beaten egg and bake for an hour and a half.

Ham and Baked Beans. Spread slices of ham with prepared mustard. In center of each slice put a tablespoon or more of beans. Roll ends of each slice over beans and fasten with toothpicks. Place in baking dish and bake in moderate oven for 10 or 15 minutes, or until thoroughly heated through.

BAKED SALMON IN SHELLS

The Shells are Simply Baked Potatoes Scooped Out.

A most acceptable luncheon dish is baked potatoes stuffed with salmon. Take six or eight smooth potatoes and bake them in their skins. Slice the top off of each. Remove contents and mash thoroughly, adding one-half cup milk, contents of a can of salmon, one egg, well beaten, one onion diced, pepper and salt to taste, and a teaspoon of lemon juice.

Put this mixture in potato shells and place on top of each shell a thin slice of tomato, or of pimiento, according to the family preference.

Add a generous layer of bread crumbs and a bit of butter. Bake for about 25 minutes in a very hot oven.

Just before serving, pour a generous teaspoon of tomato catsup over each potato.

FOOD VALUE OF ICE CREAM

Generally Considered American, Italy Gave Us Ice Cream.

Health in frozen form is the description given ice cream by Hygeia.

Because of the carbohydrate contained in this food, it is often called frozen heat. It is one of the most valuable of American nutriment.

Ice cream properly made, is simply a concentrated and refined form of milk, and milk is the most nearly perfect food in existence.

Ice cream, although a typically American dish, was first made in Italy in 1756. It was served for the first time in this country by Dolly Madison at a White House dinner in 1809.

A Timely Suggestion. Combine the new fresh fruits with the other fruits as to produce a pleasing flavor and appearance. They offer a change for the meal, and will be less expensive than when served alone. Strawberries mixed with peeled grapefruit sections make a very flavorful cocktail or salad. Rhubarb sauce poured over baked apples is not only attractive to the appetite, but adds color and interest in the meals.

About Stewing Fruit. The skin of plums, currants, etc., often become tough when cooked. To avoid this, boil the fruit for five minutes before adding the sugar. This applies to jam-making as well as to ordinary stewed fruit.

SUNFLOWER ARTICHOKE SALAD

This Vegetable May Be Purchased Either Canned or Fresh.

Cook artichoke in salted water with a slice of lemon for 25 minutes. Then cool. Make a bed of shredded lettuce on which place a slice of pineapple. Place individual petals of artichoke underneath the edge of pineapple to form a sunflower (about six petals).

Fill the center hole of pineapple with cream cheese. Sprinkle the chopped yellow of a hard-boiled egg or bits of pimientos over the cheese to suit the individual taste. Serve French dressing on the side.

A BUSINESS WOMAN CAN ALSO KEEP HOUSE

Efficiency and System Needed
As Much in Home as in Office.

More and more are women taking on the running of two jobs by combining a business career with housekeeping.

That this is being done, however, with varying success, most of us know, and the business woman who wants to be a good homemaker too will have to learn to apply system and business principles to her home that are very similar to the ones she employs in her office.

Hit-or-miss planning ends as disastrously in one place as in the other.

It is perhaps in the planning of meals that most trouble comes, for without a background of knowledge in how to buy and in the preparation of foods that can be quickly cooked and at the same time be appetizing, nourishing and satisfying, meals are too often apt to be sketchy.

Nutritive requirements must be as carefully considered, or if anything even more so, by the business woman as by the average housekeeper, for the former is frequently working under an added nervous strain and food must be supplied that will meet and take care of this.

A great deal of nervous energy can be saved by working out a regular schedule for household tasks that must be done in the morning and after business hours.

Simplify these by applying modern business methods to them, and try not to waste time and temper by fussing over unimportant details.

Plan marketing in advance and if possible shop for three or four days at a time.

A well-stocked pantry shelf might almost be considered an essential from the standpoint of time and labor saving.

Take advantage of the many housekeeping conveniences offered by the excellent varieties of canned and ready-to-serve foods.

The necessary green and raw foods can be easily gotten into such menus by the use of lettuce, raw celery, etc., and fresh fruits.

It is a good plan to study how to use leftovers appetizingly, and to cook a large enough piece of meat, or perhaps a chicken, over the week-end when one is home and has the time to devote to it. This will form the basis for several meals that can be prepared during the week with a minimum of effort.

A few quickly prepared menus that meet the average person's food requirements are as follows:

1. Broiled hamburger steak, creamed potatoes, asparagus tip salad with Russian dressing, sliced oranges and bananas, tea or coffee.
2. Scrambled eggs with broiled tomatoes and bacon, potato chips, raw cabbage salad, hot rolls, fruit tarts or individual shortcakes, coffee or tea.

3. Baked noodles with spinach and cheese, sliced tomato, cucumber and lettuce salad, whole wheat muffins, fresh fruit, sugar cookies or loaf cake, tea or coffee.

DAINTY RIBBON SANDWICHES
Various Colored Filling Produce a Ribbon Effect.

Cut all crusts from bread, then cut in five slices lengthwise; spread three slices with butter on both sides and other two on one side only.

Cover first slice with mixed green pepper and mayonnaise; add double spreaded bread, cover with seasoned cheese; add bread, cover with pimento and mayonnaise; add bread and cover with chopped eggs and mayonnaise.

Cover with last slice of bread and wrap in damp cloth.

Place under weight and slice thin before serving.

Try Spinach This Way.
Creamed spinach is a pleasing way to serve this vegetable. Wash two pounds of spinach, pick it over and shred. Put in a saucepan without water and cook for about 15 minutes tightly covered. When cooked do not drain off the liquid as it contains valuable mineral salts. Simply add four tablespoons cream, one-fourth teaspoon salt and a dash of ginger. Blend ingredients into a creamy mixture and serve piping hot.

LEMONS ARE USEFUL IN YOUR KITCHEN

Even the Rind May Be Utilized to Good Advantage by Clever Housewives.

After the juice has been extracted, dip the rind in salt to clean tarnished copper or brass.

Immediately after dishwashing, while the hands are still a bit moist, drop a little lemon juice in the palms and rub it well over the hands, to keep them soft and white.

A few drops of lemon juice in the rinsing water will give luster to glassware.

Wooden drainboards or mixing boards may be kept free from grease and cleaned by rubbing with half a lemon or lemon rind.

Put a few drops of lemon juice in the food chopper before grinding sticky fruits, such as figs, raisins or dates, and the grinder will not only be easier to clean but the food will be saved since it will not stick to the utensil.

When aluminum kettles have become dull or black, clean them with a cloth dipped in lemon juice, then rinse in warm water.

A teaspoon of lemon juice added to the water in which lamb or veal for stew is cooked will add to the flavor and tenderness of the meat.

COOKIES POPULAR WITH ICED TEA

The Fruit Flavor Is Intriguing and Furnishes the Appeal.

Drop fruit cookies made according to these directions will be found very excellent to serve with iced tea and other summer drinks.

In making the cookies use the following ingredients: One cup butter, two cups sugar, four egg yolks, one-half cup sweet milk or sour milk, three and one-half cups flour, two teaspoons baking powder, one-fourth teaspoon soda, one-half teaspoon salt, one teaspoon mace, one cup mixed of the following fruit, currants, raisins, citron, candied cherries and lemon and orange peel.

Cream butter; add sugar and cream again. Add unbeaten egg yolks and beat all. Add chopped mixed fruits and stir well. Add cream or milk and fold in sifted dry ingredients. Add flavoring.

Drop on cookie sheet far enough apart to allow dough to spread.
Bake in a hot oven 15 minutes.

Honey Cake.

One cup butter, two cups honey, two eggs, one cup sour milk, four cups flour, two teaspoons soda, one teaspoon ginger, one teaspoon cinnamon, one-fourth teaspoon salt.
Cream butter and honey well, add beaten eggs, sour milk, flour, sifted with soda, spices and salt. Mix well and bake in layer tin.

EGG DISHES ARE FAVORED

For Summertime Food Appetizing Combinations Are Featured in Two Recipes.

Coffee shops and tea rooms have popularized dishes based on eggs.
The popularity of egg cookery probably comes from the ease with which results are accomplished and the little waste that accompanies a dish made of eggs.

Recipes follow for two dishes which have eggs as the base.

Eggs in Tomato Cups.
Cut slice from stem end of to-matos and place them in greased ramekins; bake until tender in hot over (425 degrees Fahrenheit)— press down pulp—drop in raw egg —season with salt and pepper—cover with crumbs—bake until set.

Eggs and Asparagus.
Heat the asparagus, being careful not to break the stalks. Place a layer of asparagus in the bottom of a greased pudding dish. Pour on the white sauce and arrange the hard-cooked eggs cut in halves. Put the remaining asparagus, cut in uniform lengths, in a lattice around the eggs. Pour a little melted butter over all and set in a hot oven to heat through. Sprinkle with paprika and serve.

AN APPETIZING WHOLESOME

VEGETABLE PLATE LUNCHEON
In Summertime Most Persons Relish a Simple Repast of This Type.

An alluring vegetable plate luncheon has for the main dish hard-cooked eggs stuffed with coleslaw.

With the addition of hot rolls, a tasty light dessert and a cup of coffee or a drink of hot or ice tea, the luncheon will be sufficient for a hot weather meal for even a hearty eater.

Cook six eggs for 20 minutes in very gently boiling water.
When the eggs are cooked, chill and peel them. Cut them in half lengthwise, remove the yolks and mash them thoroughly, adding two tablespoons of chopped watercress and one teaspoon of vinegar, one-half teaspoon salt, dash of prepared mustard. Stuff the eggs with this mixture and garnish with pimentos.

Finely shred enough raw cabbage to make three cups. Add one teaspoon sugar, one-half to one teaspoon salt, two tablespoons of vinegar and four tablespoons of cream or salad oil. Arrange the eggs on a bed of coleslaw, garnish with watercress and serve very cold.

STRAWBERRY PRESERVES
Another Way of Preparing This Enticing Delicacy.

Stem, wash and drain strawberries. To each cup of berries, use one cup of sugar, but do not cook more than four cups of each at a time.

Stir carefully until boiling point is reached. Then boil slowly for 20 minutes and skim off foam.
Pour into platters and let stand over several hours.

Adjust new rubbers, scalded and seal. Keep in dark place.
Stand jars on their heads for 10 minutes to see if there is a leak.

Sardine Appetizer.
Take one-half cup sardines, three small tomatoes, one green pepper, three stuffed olives, six lettuce leaves and one-half cup tomato catsup. Cut tomatoes in halves and place each half on a lettuce leaf; spread with sardines, which have been mashed to a paste, and pour one tablespoon of catsup over all.
Garnish with rings of green pepper and slices of stuffed olives placed in the center.

Dried Beef and Tomatoes.
One-half pound dried beef, two cups medium tomato sauce, eight slices of hot toast. Pour boiling water over the beef, let stand for 10 minutes; drain; pour over the hot, well-seasoned tomato sauce.
Cook until thoroughly hot and serve on toast.

Bacon Sandwiches.
Broil thin bacon until crisp.
Drain well. Spread buttered slices of graham bread with salad dressing and a little chopped lettuce and sliced tomato. Place the bacon on the tomato. Cover with buttered bread. Serve immediately.

DON BOSCO, WELFARE WORKER, BEATIFIED

Thousands of Pilgrims Attend Ceremony at Rome—Pope Pays Tribute Later.

(Copyright, 1929, by the Press and Publisher Publishing Co., the New York World and the Post-Dispatch.) ROME, June 3.—Thousands of pilgrims assembled at St. Peter's today when Don Bosco, Italian priest who founded the Salesian Order and did pioneer social service work for boys of the 19th century, was beatified at colorful ceremonies.

Pope Pius XI did not appear at the actual ceremonies in the morning, but at 4:30 in the afternoon he went to St. Peter's to venerate the beatified priest. Accompanied by the entire Papal Court and the Noble Guards, wearing gala uniforms, he was carried in his historical throne into the Basilica, where he descended and knelt.
The Pope was enthusiastically greeted as he entered and left the Basilica.

Romans were most moved by the illumination of the front and dome of St. Peter's. A mighty blazing cross surmounted the copper ball of the dome. Hundreds of parchment lamps were lighted first. As night fell on the city their beams gained strength. Later hundreds of torchlights blazed over the dome and the facade of the structure, drawing words of admiration from the vast crowd. Palace roofs and slum balconies throughout the Eternal City were crowded to see the illumination.

The Pope ordered the illumination because of the beatification of Don Bosco was the first that has taken place this year, which is the Pope's jubilee as well as the year of the conciliation between the Vatican and the Italian State.

TREASURY BUILDING BOMBED AT OLDENBURG, GERMANY

All Windows in Neighborhood Smashed; Authorities Conducting Investigations.

By the Associated Press.

OLDENBURG, Germany, June 3.
—A bomb with a time fuse exploded during the night in the provincial treasury building, causing considerable damage. All windows in the neighborhood were smashed, including those in nearby St. Lambert's Church.

The bombings in this region are beginning to attract attention and the authorities are conducting a rigorous investigation. A few weeks ago an attempt was made to blow up the courthouse at Itzehoe while another explosion took place on May 26 in a school at Hohenwestedt near Rendsburg. There has been much local discontent in this part of the country because of agricultural depression and heavy taxation.

How to Guide A Little Child

By Agnes Lyne

ADMITTING MISTAKES

TO THE very little child his parents seem all wise and all powerful. Their standards are his measure of right and wrong. Yet gradually as his intelligence grows, it dawns upon him that even his mighty parents are not free to do exactly as they please and that they actually do make mistakes.

Sooner or later this realization comes to every child. What then becomes of parental prestige and authority?

It is a mistake never to admit a mistake. Some parents feel that should they ever confess themselves in the wrong the foundations of family life would tremble. And indeed they do tremble if the child finds that his parents refuse to admit it when they are obviously in the wrong. Such a realization cannot help but undermine his respect and love.

It is a wholesome thing for the child to hear his mother say, "I was wrong to scold you for breaking that cup this evening. I know you didn't mean to do it. You see I was tired and cross, and I lost my temper. Or to have his father come across with, "Look here, son, I'm sorry I called you down for being late to dinner. I didn't know you had a real reason. I'll let you tell your story first next time."

Shocking as such admissions must seem to some parents, it is part of common fairness to make them. They exercise a sound influence on the relation of parent and child, and they help the child in his struggle to do the right thing himself.

How can we expect the child to admit his shortcomings if we do not admit our own? How can we hope that he will aim to do the right thing when he sees before him grownups who get by with such sins as crossness, quick temper, unkindness and unfairness simply because they are in authority?

It is vital for the child's development that he should grow up knowing that right is right and that wrong is wrong for big and little alike. It gives him courage to struggle for perfection if he feels that he and his parents together are trying amid the difficulties which beset us all to do the fair and decent thing.

Don't let the cake cool in the pan in which it was baked, it will make it soggy.

A Piece of Her Mind

By Elsie McCormick

WIDOWS' MONEY

I HAVE been wondering what has happened to the Widows' Protective Association. The society, which was formed about four years ago, contained an idea that did not deserve to die so soon after birth. The plan was to band widows together in an effort to thwart the sordid purposes of the insurance companies. One of its sordid purposes was to watch solitary notices and mail to every newly made widow a pamphlet advising her against investing any of the estate without first consulting the association. It was also to tell her that she could check up on any unfamiliar scheme by making inquiries through the Better Business Bureau.

Unfortunately, the idea seems not to have borne fruit. Perhaps widows are too individualistic to organize, or they need so much money to buy exotic stocks that they have none left over to pay dues in a protective organization. This is too bad, for there are certainly columns with all the interest of a bride looking up her own picture in the Sunday rotogravure.

This age of feminism has not, after all, taught women a great deal about money. Some husbands today are so beautifully broad-minded that they are quite willing to promise their wives half the household bills until death do them part. There are still a great many others, however, who administer every cent themselves and keep their income as secret as the mysteries of Eleusis.

In fact, the manager of a woman's department in a New York bank recently estimated that 50 per cent of the wives in this country are totally in the dark regarding the number of shares that their husbands bring home.

There are three types of men who go into the silence whenever their wives try to gather a little information regarding the amount of the family income. There is the surly he-man, who assures the listening widow that when he has no sense anyway, and if they do get hold of money they only throw it in handbills across bargain counters.

The next type is the vainglorious man—the one who talked in such a bombastic way that he takes pride in the fact that he is ashamed to let his wife know how near he is to the bottom of the coffers.

A third and very common type is a combination of the other two. He takes the attitude that women have no sense, but he glosses over his conviction with a pretty sheen of civility. He is the sort who always speaks of his wife as the "little woman," who tells him not to bother her pretty head about any nasty old figures, and who poses impressively as the sheltering oak that so nobly holds up the limp and gentle ivy.

The result is that bankers frequently come across women who have inherited a considerable amount of property and who do not even know how to make out a deposit slip. Naturally they have little or no financial armor to protect themselves against the competent troupe of dubious business men who appear almost as soon as the odor of wax candles has been aired out of the living room.

Shady stock brokers have discovered what Cyrano de Bergerac learned too late—that women are charmed more readily by the ear than by the eye. According to a member of the District Attorney's office, the prime requisite in the mite-collecting business is a beautiful telephone voice. Tones that vibrate warmly over the wires can do more to inspire orders than an impressive rating in Broadway's means of guile. The widow are charmingly varied. One way recently investigated by the Better Business Bureau consists in calling up a lady who already holds a rather depressed note and offering to redeem it at par, provided that the amount is applied as part payment for a certain piece of property.

Usually the person is so glad to have her moribund stock come to life that she pays an exorbitant price for a piece of land which is good only as a day nursery for billy goats. Sometimes a sub-rosa partner of the real estate man sells her the stock in the first place, so both profits remain under the same roof.

Italian Omelet

Prepare an ordinary 4-egg omelet, beating the yolks and whites of eggs separately. Cook 2 tablespoons each of chopped onion, green pepper and chopped celery in butter until tender but not browned. Then add 1 cup tomato catsup and simmer until thick. Spread the omelet when risen with half the sauce and when turned and finished pour the remaining sauce over it.

Sunshine

The best and most natural bleach in the world is sunshine. If you want to whiten clothes, spread them out on the grass without wringing them. A few soakings and dryings will make the most yellowed articles beautifully white.

Just Three Minutes

Let the coffee stand for a few minutes away from the fire before pouring it into the cups. It will have a better flavor and be a clearer blend.

A Farmer's Daughter in the Canadian Parliament

Agnes Macphail Has a Longer Record of Service
Than Any American Congresswoman.

BY R. P. BRANDT.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 3. MISS AGNES C. MACPHAIL, the only woman elected to the Canadian Parliament, has a legislative record surpassed only by Lady Nancy Astor of England. She has been elected three times to the House of Commons and has sat continuously since 1921 as the United Farmer representative of the riding of Southeast Grey, Ontario, a longer record of service than that of any American Congresswoman. When elected she was 31 years old and was the "baby member" of that Parliament.

"A farmer's daughter who has worked on the farm and taught school," is the way Miss Macphail identifies herself in a brief autobiography in the Canadian Parliamentary Manual. She is entirely self-made. She was not sent to Parliament because her husband or her father had been a Representative or a Senator. She is not wealthy like Mrs. Ruth Pratt, nor is she an accomplished speaker like Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen.

Miss Macphail's political strength lies in her farming and school teaching background. She was carried into office by the wave of agrarian unrest which swept across Canada after the war. She has fortified her position, and today the Liberal Government, now in power, does not dare put up a candidate in her district. A well-informed member of the Government party told the writer: "Miss Macphail is an astute politician and a wonderful organizer. No one can beat her organization of farmers and school teachers." Liberal party leaders should know. The last time a Liberal ran against Miss Macphail he had to forfeit his election deposit money because he failed to receive as many as half the number of votes cast for the winner.

"My intense love of agriculture is the heritage of 10 generations of farm folk," Miss Macphail said. "It is not a thing assumed; it is part of my life. My parents are poor. My farming ancestors in Scotland were poor. I feel that it is my duty to do something for the farmer. My inspiration has been the thought of my two wonderful grandmothers, wives of farmers who fought the Canadian wilderness. They were great women. They were pioneers, yet they did not get the fruits of their labors. As a young girl, I decided that there must be something wrong with an economic system which withheld the comforts from those who toiled."

had heart failure when in the cool of the next morning they realized that they had chosen a woman.

"Are there no men left in Southeast Grey?" one indignant neighbor asked a delegate. "The atmosphere grew chilly. At the first Executive Committee meeting it was positively frigid. Some even suggested the calling of another convention. I was against that. The campaign warmed things up. The Executive Committee and the defeated candidates were magnificent. They worked like Trojans. Loyalty to a cause held us together. Curiosity brought the people out. Facts convinced them, and the first woman was elected to the Canadian House of Commons."

"A BOUQUET of roses welcomed me to my desk when I first entered the House, on the opening of the first session of the Fourteenth Parliament. Those roses, I thought, were a kindly thought, and I wondered who sent them."

"The name on the card meant nothing to me. I discovered later that some unlucky bachelor, sure that I would be defeated, had bet roses against a new hat. He lost his bet. These ironical flowers were emblematic of my reception to a House hitherto sacred to men."

Looking back on her early years in Parliament, Miss Macphail realizes now that she was a bit severe and forbidding when she found herself in new surroundings. "I am sure that my plain serge suit, my horn rimmed glasses and my prim attitude frightened a good many of the members," she said. "I did not think. I could mix in the social life without weakening my convictions. I had not learned the small talk by which a clever politician says little and learns much. I was determined to do my duty at whatever sacrifice I thought necessary."

"I know now that this was the wrong attitude. If one's convictions are not strong enough to withstand the social atmosphere they are weak indeed. My eight years in Parliament have taught me a great deal. I am at home on the floor, and while I am not a good speaker, I am not afraid of debate. My chief amusement now is dancing. I find that it is an effective way to relax from the tension of listening to the debates."

Miss Macphail's campaign methods are not unusual. After each session of Parliament she spends two months touring her district, speaking at the school houses in the country and the town halls in the villages. She makes it a point to speak at least once a year in every community. By correspondence she keeps in touch with the political leaders, but she says the greatest bulk of her mail comes from women throughout Canada who do not reside in her district.

Takes Her Honors Lightly

HER campaigning methods eliminate the necessity of spending a great deal of money. She is dependent on her salary of $4000 and what she makes by lecturing. She says that her organization spends about $1500 at each election and that she furnishes half.

She takes her honors lightly, saying that she is in Parliament for the benefit of the farmers and other working classes and not for herself. She says that she is not a hero-worshiper but that she has the greatest admiration and respect for Ramsay MacDonald, the British Labor leader. Of the Canadian leaders, she much prefers Prime Minister Mackenzie King to R. B. Bennett, the Conservative leader.

She also has the greatest respect for Jeannette Rankin of Montana, the first woman to be elected to the American Congress.

"The newspapers," said Miss Macphail, "shouted to the world that Miss Rankin broke down and cried as she voted against war. I admire her for what she did. Many men wept when they cast

AT THE BEAUTY SHOP

By Frances Olivier.

MATCH FACE AND CROCK.

BACK in the days when "modernism" was unknown, blondes were brought up on the theory that they could not wear red or yellow. Only brunettes were supposed to look well in those colors. And maybe the brunettes didn't make the most of it!

Those were the days when the mere thought of combining red and pink never occurred to anybody excepting a "foreigner" or "one of those Bohemians." Back in the good old days when being born a red-head meant that you were doomed to wear only greens and browns for the duration of your mortal life.

Modern red-heads wear pinks to perfection and modern women in general can wear all the colors of the rainbow and all the tints and tones thereof if they are clever with their makeup.

For example, you have a tendency to be sallow, but a yen to wear chartreuse, you will choose one of the new and immensely flattering rose-tan powders. And if you experience difficulty finding the perfect shade, then mix it yourself, darling. It's great fun, really. Buy a deep Rachel powder and a rather deep tone of flesh, stirring together some of the former and some of the latter and trying out the results until you achieve the desired effect.

Let us all be thankful for the present fashion in powders. Faces never looked more fascinating than they do now, nor "difficult" fabric shades more becoming. If you are a blond with the faint gold-tinted skin that most blondes possess, most any of the new tan powders will make you just twice asuring. Besides assuring your complete success against any pastel background.

If you are a Titian lady and prone to freckles or to floridness, tan powder—a rather light gold tone—will increase your enchantment to a degree and decrease your imperfections almost to invisibility.

Are you a true brunette, with black hair, black eyes and a skin suggesting vineyards and olive trees? Then the aforementioned rose-tan powder is for you. It is the perfect accent to your natural loveliness.

The present vogue for tan powders and vivid lipstick is making the use of rouge almost negligible. However, no one who knows make-up art will gaily the flattering youthful effect of flushed cheeks. Especially in company with dull-toned raiment. Many a dramatic costume has been lifted up from the commonplace and the unbecoming into the charming and distinctive by a judicious amount of rouging. Just as, on the other hand, many a vivid frock has been "killed" by rouge. A fairly safe rule to follow here is this: rouge when you wear black, dark blue, brown or any other somber color. Do not rouge when wearing vivid red, green, purple, orange, or, in fact, any color that tends to illumine the skin.

THE CARE OF THE BABY

By Claire Morton

TOO MUCH "NO"

PERHAPS there is no word which a child hears more often than the word "No." "No, no, no," all day long, every moment he is awake, sometimes spoken vigorously, sometimes childishly, often harshly, once in a while in shrill fright. Sometimes it is said with a gentle intonation; too often perhaps with cadences that are neither soft nor gentle.

But, whatever the differences in tones, the denial is always there, so that the child, groping to find out what all this exciting word is about, is hedged in at every turn by fumes of "no," "no," "no." It is little wonder that the baby grows confused and irritated, cross and "bad." He can't understand why you won't let him do this or that or the other.

The ideal thing, of course, is to give him the freedom of a nursery or room where all the dangers are things are out of his reach. There he can investigate and play to his heart's content, without a feeling of frustration on every hand.

A short length of the discarded garden hose will make an excellent rug beater.

Get up to a Breakfast

Worth getting up for!

Who's a sleepy-head? Certainly no one who has a breakfast of Heinz Rice Flakes to look forward to. While you're dressing there's that vision of a bowl of those crispy, curly flakes toasted to a golden brown. And the flavor! Remember? But of course you do. Like nut-meats that have been shaved tissue-thin and roasted!

And even if Heinz Rice Flakes didn't have that wondrous flavor you'd be glad to eat them. Glad for the health they help to bring. Because they are made by a patented, Heinz process which transforms the natural roughage of the rice into a pure cellulose that acts as a gentle, natural laxative.

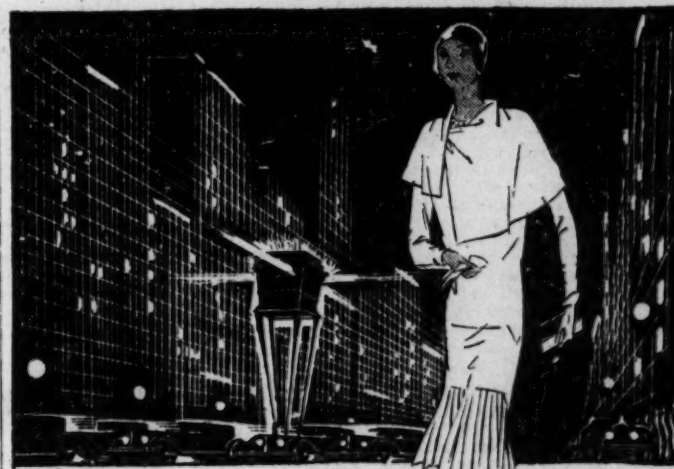

Worth getting up for? A thousand times yes—says the whole family!

Discussion Groups in Schools

EQUIPPED with a teacher's certificate, she was not content to be a mere teacher. In her country schools, she opened discussion groups for older people. The school became a social center for all ages. In talks to the farmers and their wives, she urged them to fight for their rights, to elect men to Parliament who would look after their interests, to better their own surroundings. Her love for farming became well known throughout the district.

She was nominated for Parliament at the first political convention she ever attended. Among 400 delegates she was the only woman. "Man after man was nominated," she said. "Many withdrew. Ten men and myself finally stood for nomination. We each had a short time to speak."

"When my turn came the long years of concern for farmers, my desire to solve farm problems, my desire to speak for speaking trips at my own expense, stood me in good stead. Somehow, my convictions found my audience. Yet if one of the men candidates had been able to make up his mind within an hour whether or not he should accept the nomination, my dream would have gone glimmering. His mental gymnastics tired the delegates. On the fourth ballot

SHARP RALLIES IN WHEAT AND CORN

High Priced Specialties Whirled Upward in Trade—Commercial Solvents Up 26 Points.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, June 4.—Sharp recoveries took place in grain and stock prices again today in reflection of a more cheerful speculative sentiment. The rally of 5 to 6 cents a bushel in wheat and corn prices was based on anticipations of a large Government appropriation to take care of the surplus crop and this, coupled with a more comfortable credit situation, stimulated the rise in securities prices.

Call money held steady at 7 per cent all day despite the large return flow of June 1 dividend and interest checks. Reports of a shipment of $1,000,000 of gold from London to New York, the first consignment since the Bank of England raised its discount rate, coupled with recent shipments from the Argentine, had a bullish effect on speculative sentiment.

High-priced specialties were whirled upward in rather spectacular fashion. Commercial Solvents recorded an extreme gain of 26 points and Hocking Valley Railroad added 21 points to its 12-point gain of yesterday, touching a new high at 357.

Radio was heavily bought in the late trading, crossing 31 for a net gain of 6 1/2 points. Sears-Roebuck recorded an extreme gain of 9 points and Wright Aeronautical, Montgomery-Ward, Marmen Motors, United Aircraft, National Cash Register, Curtiss Aeroplane, American Machine and Foundry and Greene Cananea Copper sold 2 to 3 1/2 points above last night's final quotations. Case Thrashing ran up 9 1/2 points, lost practically all its gain and then jumped 10 points above yesterday's final price in the last few minutes of trading.

A Few Soft Spots.

There were a few soft spots. Motor products broke eight points to a new low at 24 1/2. Atchafalaya closed three points lower on selling influenced by President Story's denial of stock dividend rumors.

The sugar market held fairly steady on rumor that President Hoover was opposed to the proposed duty on the product in the tariff bill now before the House of Representatives. A lot of 5000 bags of Porto Rican sugar was sold to an outport refiner yesterday at 2.49 cents a pound, a new low record for the season. Cotton prices rallied $1 to nearly $2 a bale after an early interval of heaviness.

Foreign exchanges were mixed. Sterling Cables held steady around $4.84 1/2. Japanese yen recovered practically all of their half-cent drop of yesterday, but renewed weakness of Spanish exchange carried the peso to a new low level below 12.75 cents.

Crude Oil Increase Reported.

Indications that crude oil output of domestic fields has reached a new high record this week, tended to check the latest buying movement, which carried the petroleum stocks into renewed prominence yesterday. Reports of the Tulsa Oil and Gas Journal indicate the daily output for the week ended June 1 last showed an increase of 41,368 barrels, averaging 2,719,723 barrels. This compares with the previous record peak daily output of 2,704,319 barrels, established in the week ended March 2 last. The increase, incidentally, was accounted for entirely by his gravity oil, which averaged 42.454 barrels ahead of the previous week.

The decrease of slightly less than $110,000,000 in stock value change measured from one or about half of earlier estimates, was somewhat of a disappointment to many traders, although it failed to check the recovery in prices which set in yesterday. Buying orders were again distributed over a fairly wide list, with the oil and public utilities in the forefront of the early advance.

Closing stock prices with other tables and market news will be found on pages 23, 26 and 27.
